Giant Gull Pesters Peer

ST. MICHAEL'S MOUNT, England (UPI) — Lord St. Elean yesterday reported a giant seagull has been attacking his castle, snatching hats off himself and his friends.

Policeman 'Jailbird' For 12 Days

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver constable said Thursday he posed as a jailbird for 12 days at Bellingham, Wash., the same cell as a man accused of murdering night watchman Valno Alto.

Const. John McCluskey, 33, was testifying at the preliminary hearing into murder charges against Chadwick William Campbell, 34, and Lloyd Elmore Storey, 26.

Coup d'Etat Rumors Put Argentina on Alert

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentine armed forces were put on alert yesterday in the wake of persistent rumors of an imminent attempt to overthrow the government. War Secretary General Robolfo Larcher confirmed reports that the army had doubled its guard at key points and taken other precautionary measures.

Twenty in Hospital

Turkey Dinner Poisons Guests

TORONTO (CP)—Twenty persons were taken to hospital suffering food poisoning after an old person's turkey dinner in an east end church hall Thursday.

Nine were detained at East General Hospital and four at Toronto General Hospital. They are reported in satisfactory condition. Fifteen others were treated in various doctors' offices.

Police are interviewing members of the women's committee which prepared the meal and the remains of the dinner were removed for analysis by the city health department.

About 2½ hours after the dinner, organized for the Beaches Senior Citizens' Club, a woman complained of stomach pains during a community sing-song.

An ambulance was called and three other persons were taken to hospital. Others were taken later in private cars.

Five turkeys were prepared by the women in their own homes. Also served were scalloped frozen mixed vegetables, mince pie and cream, all prepared in the hall's kitchen.

Jeweler Riled

Family's Clock Sits on Sidewalk

SEATTLE (AP)—A Seattle family which bought an old 20-foot sidewalk pedestal clock for $25 six months ago is fighting for the right to keep it ticking away on a downtown street.

"Save our clock," was the cry carried by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Black to the board of public works.

A jeweler, Homer L. Carroll, demanded that the board have the clock removed from in front of a new addition to his store. It disturbs the appearance, he said.

The Blacks pleaded for its preservation as a "piece of history."

The 52-year-old clock also has become a part of a Black family ritual. Once a week they load their two children in the car, pick up a friend, and go downtown to wind it.

"We're just sentimentalists," said Mrs. Black.

Threat to B.C.'s Economy Around Bargaining Table

The real threat to British Columbia's economy is in B.C. and around the bargaining table, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday.

"If we can solve the problem of the cost spiral, whether it be caused by excessive labor costs or by excessive profit demands, there is nothing which can hold back the British Columbia economy," he said.

He predicted the annual labor income will hit the $2,000,000,000 mark during the next 12 to 18 months.

Mr. Bonner agreed with a Socialist spokesman (Harold Winch) who said a few days ago that increasing competition abroad threatens our export trade, but he emphasized the real threat is at home.

"The success of the provincial economy in shaking off the effect of loss of production through strikes during 1959 only emphasizes the extent to which 1959 year had been a truly record year had we been able to continue production without interruption," he said.

Angry Bennett Says:

Wenner-Gren Not Exempt

The new B.C. Energy Board has full authority to initiate on its own a study of the Peace River power development proposals, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"Of course the energy board will deal with long-term integration of the Peace River and the Columbia, and all other developments," the angered premier said.

The premier ridiculed demands for his resignation and the resignation of the full energy board, made by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Wednesday when it was learned terms of reference of the new board did not specifically include the Peace River.

SHOULD KNOW

"It just shows how unconstitutional the leader of the opposition is. If he were any student of constitutional matter, he would know the government had no alternative but to allow the application to be processed in the usual legal manner, in accordance with the acts and legislation of this province," the premier said.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

"It would have been illegal for the government not to have the application (of the Peace River Power Development Co.) processed by the legal laws of the province," he said. "And it would be unconstitutional if it were done any other way."

STORM STARTED

A political storm was started when terms of reference of the new board did not include a specific study of the controversial Wenner-Gren Peace River power development proposals, a ruling on which must be made by March 31.

The terms:

● To undertake broad long-term studies in the uses of coal, petroleum, natural gas, hydro-electricity and, as future needs dictate, atomic energy; and

● To study specific matters referred to it by the government.

NORMAL MANNER

An explanatory note included in the premier's explanations of the terms of reference said: "Referring to the pending application by the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd. to proceed with its hydro-electric project on the Peace, Premier Bennett said this will be handled in a normal manner in accordance with requirements of the Water Act and general legislation, and that should any unusual problems occur, these will be referred to the energy board for study."

DIFFERENT LIGHT

But Opposition Leader Robert Strachan saw the premier's newest version in a different light.

"The premier walked right into a trap," he said.

"His statement proves the energy board is simply a window dressing, with which he hoped to mislead the people of the province."

"His statement that the Peace River must be handled under various acts of the legislature under control of the premier and his cabinet, proves not only Wenner-Gren, but every other application for power resources can only be granted under the direction of the premier, no matter what the energy board may recommend," he said.

MAYOR ALSBURY

Government

Three Levels Outdated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Tom Alsbury charged Thursday the provincial government is remaining debt-free at the expense of the municipal governments.

"The government is discriminating against the local government," he told a Kwanish luncheon. "It is not paying for its share of public services, especially education."

The mayor said the provincial government should pay at least 60 per cent of education costs instead of the 30 per cent it now pays.

He called the present three-level system of government outdated and said there should be a complete review of the system.

A. Y. KAZNACHEYEV

Russian Turncoat Speaks

NEW YORK (AP)—A Soviet diplomat who recently defected to the United States said Thursday that processes now at work in Russia "will inevitably lead to a democratic system."

Alexander Y. Kaznacheyev, in his first public statement since he was whisked out of Rangoon, Burma, last June, said the Communist regime is being forced to retreat from absolute dictatorship.

"Each step in the regime's retreat," he said, "is a step forward in the eventual burial of the Communist regime."

He told the Overseas Press Club that Soviet people for the first time are getting a taste of freedom, and this makes them insist on more of it.

Not Cussedness Says Murdoch

Fluoridation was soundly defeated in Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay yesterday—as thousands of voters cast ballots on the contentious issue.

Last week voters in Victoria also turned it down to make a clean sweep against the fluoridation referendum in Greater Victoria.

Reeve George Murdoch hailed the 2,109 to 1,503 defeat of fluoridation in Oak Bay as a sign that "people are beginning to take a little cognizance of their freedoms and to assert their democratic rights."

Election Stories on Pages 6, 7 and 9.

The reeve said: "I don't think it was pure cussedness which caused the defeat. The people turned down fluoridation here, as they have everywhere else, because they felt it infringed on their rights."

Reeve A. C. Wurtele said after fluoridation went down by a vote of 861 to 500 in Esquimalt he was "disappointed to see so many vote against the health measure after the dentists and doctors came out unanimously in its favor."

He said there was no doubt those who voted against fluoridation "felt their rights were being invaded."

Reeve George Chatterton said results of the fluoridation vote in Saanich—final count was 3,513 against, 1,922 in favor—were "immaterial" as far as he was concerned.

But, the reeve added, he had hoped fluoridation would enable him to affect some saving on his family dental bill which now runs about $400 a year.

Defeat of the fluoridation vote in Victoria last Thursday nullified the votes held yesterday in the other three municipalities. Officials nevertheless urged voters to cast ballots in order to provide an indication of public opinion on fluoridation.

Voters Reject Saanich Schools

Ratepayers in Saanich school district 63 yesterday turned down the $799,000 bylaw for schools by a slim margin of 104 votes.

The final vote of 1,679 to 1,294—approximately 56 per cent in favor—fell short of the required 60 per cent majority for the money bylaw.

School board chairman J. D. Helps declined to make any statement but expressed bitter disappointment.

Reeve George Chatterton said he would urge school trustees to put the bylaw to another vote as soon as possible next year and said he believes "most people are not informed on the actual grim situation which exists in our schools."

"I can't believe anyone who knows the conditions our children must attend school under would turn down this bylaw."

Reeve Chatterton said the school board should "make a determined effort with every means at their disposal" to inform the people of conditions which actually exist in schools before the next vote is put.

Saanich Votes $30,000 For Parkland Purchase

Saanich voters briefly cast aside their acute concern over rising municipal taxes yesterday and by 3,289 to 2,111 volunteered to shoulder an additional half-million burden for parkland purchase.

A clear decision on the park purchase fund issue was acclaimed by Reeve George Chatterton as "a great stride forward."

He said the levy will raise some $30,000 next year on the basis of the present overall assessment.

He termed it "extremely unlikely" that any of the money will be spent next year.

He said the municipality "has its eye on a number of parcels of land which are not yet on the market."

"We want to have the money to purchase them for park purposes when they do become available."

The fund will be allowed to accumulate from year to year to make such purchases possible.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

VETERAN STAGES, the last small independent bus line in Greater Victoria, is being sold.

I hear it is to remain an independent line under the new ownership, rather than submerge its identity in the B.C. Electric or Vancouver Island Coach Lines.

People of Colwood, Happy Valley and Langford are in the habit of cursing at the Veteran Stages schedules and its ratty antique buses, but I think that a number of people in the district have a secret affection for the old firm, which ran for so many years under the guidance of the late A. F. Wale.

It's one of the last of the folksy bus lines. Its drivers sometimes trust their passengers for the fare until next day or next week. They will stop anywhere; lend passengers flashlights; sometimes, go out of the regular route of the bus to take a passenger home.

Drivers who live in Langford district are in the habit of taking a bus home with them for the night.

I'd rather have a friendly Veteran stage than a coldly efficient B.C. Electric bus. But I wish the Veterans' buses ran more often.

This is the time of year when birds go on a binge. So I am told by a man who has observed the same thing every winter when people throw their rotten apples on the rubbish heap.

The apples ferment and turn into a sort of mushy applejack.

This man saw a group of robins gorging on the over-ripe apples, and getting more and more wobbly and foolish.

In the pouring rain, one robin actually plunged into a deep pool, over its head, for a bath, and nearly drowned.

Other birds were strutting and whirling around in a ludicrous way.

Troubled with splashes of greasy water on your car windshield? Mrs. Dora Cross, Victoria driving teacher, swears that the streaks can be wiped out this way: Keep the engine running, leave the wipers on, open a bottle of Coca-Cola and pour some on each side of the windshield. It cleans the glass and wipers.

Some drug addicts are changing over to a dangerous new poison, claims a writer in "Flash" weekly. They're eating fly agaric, a deadly mushroom. It gives them brief ecstasy and supernatural strength; a few months later, delirium, madness and death.

Cancer Operation Fails

Dying Girl Gets Wish, Takes Vows as Nun

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—More than anything else, 18-year-old Antoinette Galati wanted to become a Roman Catholic nun.

She started her training at Mt. Sacred Heart Convent here when she was only 14. She attended the convent's academy, and she was well liked by her classmates, but she wanted even more to take her final nun's vows.

TAKES TIME It takes time to become a nun, though, and Antoinette would have to wait and study until she was 20.

A week ago, the girl complained of feeling tired. She was taken to a hospital. Doctors examined her and found she was dying of cancer.

An operation was scheduled for early Thursday morning, but doctors feared that it might not help.

Antoinette was never told of the seriousness of her condition, but Thursday morning she learned anyway. She was told that she could take her final vows before the operation, two years ahead of time.

TAKES NAME "I should be very happy," the girl said. Her mother, Mrs. Frank Galati and the convent's mother superior were present. Antoinette took her vows and the name Sister Benjamin.

Then Antoinette went into the operating room. She died Thursday afternoon. She will be buried in the sisters' plot at St. Lawrence Cemetery.

Canadians Eat Less Meat Give Up Tea for Coffee

OTTAWA (CP)—The average Canadian diet put less emphasis on meat and potatoes last year and more on poultry and other vegetables.

Canadians ate more margarine and less butter, and drank more coffee and less tea.

The bureau of statistics came up with these conclusions Thursday with figures comparing average food consumption in 1957 and 1958.

Consumption of red meat in 1958 fell to 138.7 pounds per person from 142.5, with a 10-pound drop in beef-eating more than offsetting a 5½-pound rise in the use of pork.

Insurance Cut For:

Good Drivers, Smaller Cars

There is almost certain to be a reduction in automobile insurance rates in British Columbia next year, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said yesterday.

It is indicated general automobile insurance rates for 1960 are to be basically the same as for 1959 and 1958, but there is going to be greater recognition for the accident-free driver.

SMALL CARS

The second category of revision to be expected during the next 12 months should involve smaller cars, because experience has shown that these cars are less costly to insure, because they cost less to repair than the standard North American models.

For drivers with three, two and one-year accident-free records, many 1960 rates are expected to provide a discount, and discounts in some cases will be as high as 48 per cent off standard rates. The 48 per cent discount category, he explained, involves five-year accident-free drivers whose cars average less than 10,000 miles a year and where cars are not used for business purposes. Increasing attention is to be

Her Nest Egg Now Fortune

CHICAGO (AP)—A spinster school teacher with an eye for investments built a modest savings into a million-dollar fortune, her inheritance tax return showed Thursday.

The teacher was Miss Beulah I. Shoemith, 79, who died June 3.

Miss Shoemith, who taught at Hyde Park High School in Chicago, probably started with no more than $2,000 to $3,000 capital about 25 years ago, said Carmen S. Brown, a broker and executor of the estate.

Since then, said Brown, she amassed a fortune of $1,037,221 by investing savings from her teacher's salary in sound standard stocks.

130 Per Cent Too Much For Loyalty

PINE BUSH, N.Y.—"How they can tax me 130 per cent of my gross income is incomprehensible."

With those words, successful British author Gerald Kersh explained why he will become a U.S. citizen today.

"I love England and honor the Queen," said Kersh, who has written 5,000 articles, 3,000 short stories and 27 novels. "But the bureaucrats who rule the land (Britain) have driven me away. I am a refugee from the welfare state and a fugitive from the effects of applied Socialism."

SOUTHAMPTON, England—Actor Sir Laurence Olivier sailed for New York on his way to a California Christmas without his wife, Vivien Leigh. He refused to comment on reports of a rift.

NORFOLK, Va.—The navy announced the retirement of Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the Atlantic fleets of the United States and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Wright, 61, will step down next March.

KARACHI, Pakistan—A baby—born in Lajpatabad, West Pakistan, during President Eisenhower's recent visit has been named Ike Khan.

LONDON—Dr. Laszlo Bati, a counsellor at the Hungarian legation in London, has denied "absolutely and categorically" reports that young persons had been executed in Hungary for their part in the 1956 revolt.

LONDON—Home Secretary R. A. Butler turned down a demand in Parliament to free six H-bomb protesters. The six choose jail rather than promise good behavior for a year.

NEW YORK—Thomas Devine, 30, a Negro convicted of raping a white Belgian war bride, was sentenced to 60 to 100 years in prison. Judge Edward Thompson described Devine as "a wild animal."

BRAINTREE, England—Farmer Claude Grimwood was fined $14 for setting illegal fox traps, one of which snared the village policeman.

NEW YORK—Manhattan borough president Hulan Jack admitted that a $3,500 alteration job on his apartment was paid for by a realtor seeking sponsorship of a $28,000,000 slum clearance project.

ZANZIBAR—British Colonial secretary Iain MacLeod was greeted with demands for internal self government by 1960 and shouts of "freedom" when he arrived to confer with Ali Mushin, leader of the Zanzibar Nationalist party.

PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—Bob Hope got conditional approval from his doctors to take his Christmas trip to Alaska to entertain U.S. troops. The schedule calls for 12 shows in nine days.

Last Ships Loading Grain at Lakehead

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—The last four grain ships to load here this year were under elevator spouts late Thursday.

With insurance deadlines for Great Lakes navigation already past, the ships raced freeze-up to take out the last loads of grain. Mild weather in the last few days has helped to keep loading slips open.

Underlines Unity

Green Cheery After Meeting

PARIS (CP)—Canadian External Affairs Minister Green spoke buoyantly Thursday night about the future of the Atlantic alliance. (See earlier story on Page 34).

Drawing a picture somewhat at variance with gloomy accounts of the NATO meetings published in some quarters, Green told reporters. "My impression is that there is great confidence in the alliance. There is a deep community of interest."

The minister stuck to his theme despite reporters who drew his attention to comments circulating in conference headquarters that the NATO conference has been a "do-nothing" meeting.

One correspondent said some feel the conference failed because it had confronted big problems and apparently nothing had been done to solve them.

Green said he thinks the position is exactly opposite. "I think it's been a pretty good show," he said. "I think the Western world has reason to be proud."

Slayer, 14, 'Good Kid'

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (UPI)—An eighth-grade youngster told without remorse yesterday that he shot and killed his foster mother with eight bullets because she kept "bothering" him.

"She kept picking on me," said Robert Butler, 14. "Everything I did was wrong. We used to argue about every little thing. It wasn't just about school."

Police called him a "good, clean-cut kid."

Author Blacklisted Five Years in Error

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A film writer said yesterday that he was deprived of his normal means of livelihood for five years because his name was placed erroneously on secret lists of possibly subversive persons compiled by movie, television and advertising agency executives.

Louis Pollock, 55, said that he learned only recently from an entertainment industry executive that he had been blacklisted because of the similarity of his name with that of a San Diego clothing store operator. The San Diego man refused to testify before the House committee of un-American activities in 1954.

Pollock and his attorney, Martin Gang, identified the witness as Louis Pollack.

Pollock said that during his so-called "sterile period" he wrote two screen plays, 10 screen "treatments"—plot outlines—and 30 teleplays. He said he sold only one teleplay despite the fact that his other offerings were praised by producers, agents and fellow writers.

Pollock said that prior to 1954 he wrote and sold some 50 radio scripts, six movie scenarios and two teleplays. He said his income was in the neighborhood of $25,000 a year.

After the purported ban went into effect, he said, he was forced to mortgage his home on two occasions, and finally sold it.

He said his principal income during the past five years has been from sales of non-fiction to national magazines and public relations work.

Pollock's statements were backed up by officials of the Writers Guild of America, including president Curtis Kenyon.

Kenyon noted that the situation was not the fault of the House committee. He said the secret lists were "Frankensteins created by the entertainment industry and advertising agencies and include persons considered unemployable for political reasons."

'Fooling the Public'

DEVELOPMENTS this week in Winnipeg in connection with the use of trading stamps in stores demonstrate the insidious influence of this merchandising "gimmick" once it gains hold in a community. In self-defence a large number of independent Winnipeg grocery stores have signed up for a trading stamp plan even though they would rather have nothing to do with it.

The instigator of the scheme for independent stores stated that it was organized with great reluctance; that "none of these stamp plans are any good" but that the independent stores are "forced to fool the public along with the chain stores." That is a candid admission indeed, and one which must have a disquieting effect on consumers with enough curiosity to inquire as to who pays the cost of something-for-nothing retail promotions.

The chief argument used in defence of trading stamps and modifications of the same general principle is that the extra business thereby drawn into a store covers the cost of the prizes or bonuses, and that the cost is not concealed in inflated prices charged for the goods sold. Such a defence may be valid where only one or two stores in a community introduce that type of promotion. However, if in the end all or almost all the stores follow the leader into competing with one another through give-aways the initial advantage enjoyed by the one or two is lost, and the cost of this form of sales promotion can be recovered only through price scales rather than from increased volume.

The federal royal commission on food price spreads in the report recently presented took note of these factors and problems, but unfortunately did not offer any solution. There may, however, be some consolation in the thought that the various give-away schemes could in the end kill off one another. After all, there is nothing new in the principle of gifts and bonuses; it is half a century old at least—even the cigar cards of many years ago were an example of it—and the waves which flood the country eventually recede—which may prove simply that consumers can be fooled for only so long.

Coalition Cross-Fires

THE NATO alliance is having its troubles. This is not to be wondered at because coalitions are at best an uneasy grouping, with each component having an individual axe to grind. Even the over-riding need for a unified front does not obviate the clash of differing interests and points of view. The postwar deluge of military memoirs makes this amply clear.

At the moment France is the reluctant member of the NATO family. Under a leader whose mystique is fashioned in the honor and grandeur of his country, France wants to eat its cake and have it. It prefers to run its own show even if that show is part of a combined play. It resents any seeming diminution of its authority by disposing of its forces to allied command. Integration for it means only having its own way.

Fire was added to the fuel of discontent by the assertion of an American general that France was dragging its feet; a touchy accusation to a man like General de Gaulle. In fact a great deal of French effort is dissipated in Algeria, with consequent lessening of strength in Europe and thus of the NATO chain of defence. Nor will General de Gaulle agree that French air forces should be integrated into one NATO command.

If each NATO nation wanted to run its own show while ostensibly part of a unified whole the alliance would collapse. This is not likely to happen of course; but General de Gaulle will press his stand to the utmost. He knows that the alliance is imperative, that France is a lynchpin and that its collaboration is necessary to maintain a common front against the Soviet threat. He can thus be obdurate to the point of disruption. He knows also however that France and Europe without the backing of British, American and Canadian strength would be in a perilous position.

It will all come right in the end. Some face-saving formulas will be evolved so that national vanities will not be too obviously affronted. The NATO alliance will survive; probably to meet and overcome further disagreements in future. But if real unity of thought and aim could be achieved the Western position would be that much better.

Growing Pains

AT the present stage of its experience Victoria City is enduring many of the pains of an outright metropolitan area without much of the benefits some form of municipal union might imply. Its waterworks have been alienated. Its schools are part of a much larger school district, much of which is outside the city limits. In health matters it has combined with others. While it would be idle to say that there have not been some corresponding benefits from even this slight degree of co-ordination, it would be difficult to argue that Victoria as the hub of the larger community is not paying disproportionately for a strictly rationed share of the benefits so far.

At present, Victoria City is certainly feeling the pinch in this position. It is assessed for the needs of others. It pays to bring up to serving standard that which may be amiss in the suburban areas. With its own civic plant more or less completely installed and paid for by its own property owners, it continues as the first address on the line for receiving additional billing or assessment that arises in its hinterland.

Two instances currently are in point. The City believes that some school outlays are weighted against it, on stated grounds which will be laid before a committee of the provincial executive this week. City Manager C. C. Wyatt has so reported, and his analysis has been endorsed by the city council. The council's "postmortem" on the sale of Victoria's watershed and pipeline this week supplies the other instance. It is too late now for the City to wish that it had some control left over former water assets. Well or too easily, it sold exclusive title and interest in a water collecting and distributing system which it had built up from scratch with its own money. The development costs are coming in now, and the development is chiefly afield.

Time, no doubt, has a cure for these inequalities but the realization is proving bitter.

Interpreting the News

The Result in Cyprus

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IT is ironic that Britain, which once banished Archbishop Makarios from Cyprus for his part in terrorist activities, should welcome his election to the new republic's highest office.

Even more ironic is the fact that Makarios should be openly cheered into the presidency by the Turkish Cypriots who once dreaded the sight of the bearded churchman.

With the 46-year-old archbishop firmly established in office, both the British and the Turks know that the republic's constitution is likely to be formed on a basis already accepted by the three parties. This was unquestionably the biggest single issue on everyone's minds in the recent election.

If his opponent John Clerides had been elected—he collected half as many votes as the archbishop—the issue would be far from settled. About the only clear issue on his platform was bitter opposition to the proposed constitution.

On other issues Clerides faced the impossible task of appeasing his Communist and extreme right-wing supporters. As his campaign eventually bogged down in conflicting policies his basic position became virtually indefinable.

While Makarios had some similar difficulties—at times the campaign was reduced to a personal feud—he always had the proposed constitution to support.

It was clear that Whitehall wanted nothing to do with Clerides. And the Turks wanted no part of a revised constitution. On the basis of this Makarios found new supporters.

What about the future? The British government is reasonably confident that all last-minute kinks will be ironed out—particularly those deciding the future of its bases on the island—before the republic comes into existence in February.

The only shadow on the situation is cast by the 71,000 voters who supported Clerides. There was surprise in London that the ageing lawyer got this much backing, and there are fears that organized opposition may boil up against Makarios.

Thinking Aloud Too Many Agencies

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IN Ontario a bishop has condemned as "almost irreverent" the playing of religious carols as background music in stores during the Christmas season. One could deplore background music per se at any season for this practice has become an affliction.

There is no escape from it, scarcely, wherever one goes. The bishop has a point, although his "almost" qualifies it. True enough when a loud speaker resounds with "Oh Come Let Us Adore Him" it might seem the only objects adored are the enticing variety of fancy goods on every counter.

I think there is a "but" to that, however. The mind, happily, is a unique instrument. Half of it can absorb this lovely carol with concurrence while the other half has a fixation for merchandise.

My own chief complaint has to do with the too-early and endless repetition that assails the ears. A few days ago I voiced thanks that named Christmas music was still in its cans but I spoke too optimistically. No sooner had I written this and gone downtown than my ears shrunk in distaste.

The cans had been opened. The bishop in question says that store owners should make Santa Claus their patron saint and take Christ out of a "commercial Christmas."

This is a favorite complaint, but an unthinking one. There was mentioned in this space earlier this week that the secular and the spiritual were intertwined at this season of the year. So they were from the beginning.

The early Christian missionaries superimposed the Christian theme on the pagan festivals marking the winter solstice. The latter comprised feasting, merry-making, gift-giving—a polka—and these could scarcely be eliminated. They were part of a way of life. To make headway with their message the Christian churchmen wisely persuaded the pagans to their religion by attaching it to the traditional ceremonies of the December season.

They would never have succeeded had they simply tried to wipe out this portion of long-standing folklore.

The secular and the spiritual, therefore, each belong to what we celebrate as Christmas.

The situation is not fundamentally different today. It is true that no carols were sounded from loud speakers in these early missionary days, and there were no stores as we know them filled to the brim with inviting merchandise. It could be added I suppose that there were no cathedrals either.

The pagans would have their own array of goods and gifts, however, and food and fancy raiment in abundance. The "commercial" aspect would be the same.

It would seem as inappropriate therefore to banish one feature of the Christmas we know as to banish the other; they are ingrained together as part of our history and our habits.

Indeed if by some alchemy the so-called "commercial" side of Christmas were eliminated tomorrow most of us, including good people to whom the spiritual side is uppermost in mind, would be flabbergasted.

It would not seem like Christmas at all.

Background music as such is something else again, and there I could agree with the Ontario bishop.

Problems of Economic Aid

By W. N. EWER, from London

MR. Douglas Dillon, who is the United States under-secretary of state for economic affairs, has been to Europe (London, Brussels, Bonn and Paris) on a dual mission.

One of his purposes has been to gain a clearer picture of the two new European economic groups—the six-country "Common Market" and the seven-country "Free Trade Area"—and to make known his own views on the subject. The United States government has apparently felt it should have more information about their policies and intentions before it can decide what, if any, modifications are called for in its own economic policies.

But it is very notable that on his arrival in London, Mr. Dillon gave top priority to another subject which he wants to discuss.

This is in his own words the problem of "assisting in the healthy economic growth of the developing countries, many of which have only recently taken their place in the community of nations."

It is clearly the view of the American government that the time has come for a careful review of the whole subject—which he described as "one of the principal challenges facing us today." It is a view which is certainly shared here in Britain.

That economic aid to the developing countries of Asia and Africa is essential is now universally accepted. What needs to be re-assessed is what The London Times calls "the means of giving aid, the purposes to which it is directed, and the effectiveness of the aid given." To this should be added: the best methods of co-operation between the countries able and willing to provide the aid. For this, as Mr. Dillon says, "is not a job any of us can do alone."

Much, very much, has been done and is being done. I do not propose to enter into the argument whether this or that country is pulling its weight. What seems to me clear is that there is need for greater co-ordination than in the past.

For there have grown up in the past decade a number of agencies, some national, some international, all dealing in one way or another with the same problems. That in itself does not make for efficiency. And, in addition, there have been many doubts expressed whether, for one reason or another, some of the aid given has been wisely given and wisely directed. The Times has put it quite bluntly. "The evidence of wasted aid has accumulated almost everywhere." That is perhaps something of an exaggeration. But there is substance in it which it would be folly to overlook.

The initiative in the whole operation came, it is as well to recall, from the conference of Commonwealth foreign ministers at Colombo just 10 years ago. The proposal, made by Mr. Percy Spender, the Australian minister for external affairs, and decisively supported by Ernest Bevin, then the U.K. foreign secretary, produced a few months later the Colombo plan. This was originally a plan for economic co-operation between South and South-East Asian members of the Commonwealth with assistance from other Commonwealth states. But it was quickly extended. Other Asian countries joined in the partnership. The United States joined in the giving of assistance from the outside.

Looking back, I am inclined to think that it would have been best if the Colombo system, with its insistence on self-help and co-operation as the basis of all assistance, had simply been developed. But for many reasons that could not be. Other organizations have grown up. There is United States economic aid to a number of countries on a bilateral basis. There has been aid linked with organizations like the Central Treaty Organization, formerly the Baghdad Pact. The World Bank has played a valuable role. There have been plans for the organization of economic aid by the United Nations.

And of course separately, and in many ways in competition with all this, there have been the offers and the grants of assistance by the Soviet Union and its associates.

The problems of co-ordinating the efforts of the Western countries and agencies are formidable. Those of co-ordinating Western and Soviet efforts are even more formidable. That may be an important theme for preliminary discussion at the summit. The contributing countries and agencies may feel with some reason that they should have some voice in determining the ways in which the aid they provide should be used. On the other hand receiving countries and governments may understandably be suspicious and resentful of anything savouring of outside interference in their economies. There is also the problem whether long-term developments, or short-term and immediate human needs, should have priority. And so on.

My own feeling, as I have said, is that the Colombo planners, following the precedent of the Marshall Plan in war-wrecked Europe, had the right idea when they linked outside aid with self-help and co-operation. Outside aid can help. But economic salvation and development can at bottom only come from the efforts and the determination of the developing countries themselves.

But the main point which, if I understand him rightly, Mr. Dillon has come to stress, is the urgent need for the co-ordination of the various kinds of outside help. "This," as he says, "is not a job any one of us can do alone."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

IT is wonderful the way the cowboys in the West keep their ten-gallon hats on riding like the wind across the deserts, through draughty canyons and up steep cliffs, and even when shot at. Villains and heroes are equally gifted in this respect.

I am not sure, but I think our RCMP, when they are doing their famous exhibition rides, wear little straps under their chins or maybe around their back hair, in order to keep their starched stiff Stetsons on. All the more wonderful that the hundreds of cowpokes, rustlers, marshals and deputies can gallop like mad in those great loose hats and never lose a one, regardless of the terrain or the weather.

But this is nothing compared to the fact that they can fight with their fists, socking each other in the most terrific fashion, had men bowling the marshal right over the bar, marshal hoisting the bad men practically up through the transom with one punch, without ever losing their hats.

There are many remarkable things about the Old West as recreated by TV. You never see a dog in any of those cow towns. The streets are always spotlessly clean, no ash cans. The horses are remarkably tidy in their habits, much tidier than most horses I have met. And in such fights as I have seen in the flesh, the hats of both victor and vanquished were almost the first things to be knocked off.

Power to Spoil

Two hundred and fifty youngsters are going to be very disappointed on Saturday night, due to the efforts of the secretary of the Musicians' Union. This gentleman, Mr. Billy Tickle, has decided to refuse permission to members of HMCS Naden orchestra to play for the Rainbow Sea Cadets' annual Christmas party Saturday, Dec. 19.

As this permission was given last year for the Cadets' Christmas party, it is hard to understand how one man can hold in his hand the power to spoil the pleasure these navy-minded lads derive from seeing musicians in naval uniform at their Christmas party.

Surely in a country which prides itself on freedom of thought and will it be astonishing that one man who seems to put material things before the fostering of youth movement is able to say "No" to people who wish to give our future citizens a guiding hand in the right direction.

I, as the mother of one of these youngsters, would like to know the reason for this, if anyone can explain it. Why, when so many people are trying to help the youth of this country, can one person go out of his way to spoil the pleasure of 250 youngsters?

Pension Requirements

Your correspondent, Mr. C. Reid, who wrote that a person may leave Canada from the age of 18, return at age 68, and qualify at age 70 for old-age security pension is incorrect.

Government regulations as applied only to bona-fide temporary absences from Canada, clearly state:

(1) An applicant qualifies if he has been resident in Canada for the "immediately preceding" 10 years;

(2) "Temporary absences" from Canada during this 10-year period, provided they do not total more than 600 days, are not regarded as interrupting residence in Canada.

(3) If, however, during those 10 years the applicant has lived outside Canada for a longer period than can be claimed as "temporary absence," he will qualify provided: (a) he has resided in Canada at least a year "immediately prior" to approval of his application and (b) for every day resident outside Canada during the 10-year period, he has spent at least two days in the country "immediately prior" to that period.

An absence outside Canada from the age of 18 to age 68—a matter of 51 years—would be classified as "permanent absence."

Negro Family Fights Daily War of Nerves

By DONALD L. NEFF
PACOIMA, Calif. (UPI) — For the Emory H. Holmes family each day restarts a battle against an unseen and nameless enemy.

Holmes, his wife and three children are Negroes who four months ago moved into an all-white tract in this San Fernando Valley suburb of Los Angeles.

Since then they have been subjected to an unrelenting series of harassments—minor, but annoying and terrifying in their variety and consistency.

Their telephone rings in the middle of the night but no one speaks at the other end. A mortician arrives and says he's been called to take possession of "the deceased."

Their two Siamese cats suddenly die.

"We look outside each morning to see what will happen next," said Holmes' wife, Bobbie, 32, a grade school teacher.

"Each day brings something new," added Holmes, a researcher at Systems Development Corp. in nearby Santa Monica which does research for the department of defence. He holds a master's degree in psychology.

"So far, there has been no harassment of the children," Holmes said. "We've had kids run by the house calling out names which our children could hear—I guess the kids heard the names from grown-ups. But nothing serious. 'We're sticking.'"

Mayor Explains

Some Gifts in Order For Civic Employees

EDMONTON (CP)—Mayor Elmer Roper tried Thursday to end the mild confusion in some city hall departments arising out of his off-the-cuff statement on Christmas gifts.

The mayor had told reporters that it should be taken for granted that civic employees should not accept Christmas gifts from companies doing business with the city.

Earlier this year Commissioner J. M. Tweddle had said there would be no formal ban on presents because there have been "no substantial gifts as far as I know."

As a result of the two statements some civic officials were wondering just what constitutes a gift.

Mayor Roper Thursday said there is a distinction between "advertising trinkets" and gifts that "might cause the civic employee embarrassment."

"Firms doing business with the city should not send any gift to a civic employee that they think the employee might have any doubt about accepting."

Ike Delights Tunisians

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI) — Hundreds of thousands of Tunisians roared a welcome to President Eisenhower yesterday during a four-hour visit to Tunisia, his last stop before going to Paris for this week-end Western summit talks.

The thousands cheered, "Ya, Ya, Ike" as Eisenhower and the Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba drove through a six-mile valley of humanity and three (cardboard) triumphal arches erected for the occasion.

At the presidential palace, the two presidents made a broad survey of the international situation, discussed the problems of the Algerian struggle against France and looked into what more the United States could do to combat Tunisia's poverty.

Tunisian officials were clearly delighted with the visit, particularly with a paragraph in the final joint communique that said:

"They agreed that the realization of self-determination for the peoples of Africa and Asia is one of the most important events of our situation in neighboring Algeria but did not commit the United States to any specific course."

The communique expressed "grave anxiety" about the

Nanaimo Voters Want to See Newcastle as Full-Scale Park

NANAIMO — Nanaimo voters want to see Newcastle Island, in the city's harbor, developed as a full-scale recreational park by the provincial government.

A referendum yesterday calling on city council to turn the island over to the provincial government for development as a provincial park was favored by a 1,300-197 margin. Despite the "disappointingly light" ballot, Ald. Douglas Greer was satisfied that the margin in favor was "a fair expression of opinion." (A total of 6,007 persons were entitled to vote on the referendum).

Ald. Greer said he hoped "a good deal could be made on behalf of the taxpayers and that the government would at least take over maintenance on Jan. 1."

Maintenance costs amounting to $6,000 a year on the 750-acre island have become prohibitive for the city recently.

Among long-term proposals which have been discussed for Newcastle Island is construction of an access bridge. Recreation Minister Westwood has already discussed such a scheme with the federal government since the span would pass over navigable waters for which the senior government is responsible.

The island was purchased by Nanaimo in 1955 from the CPR for $150,000. Since then it has been operated by the city as a park. Beaches, picnic sites, a children's wading pool and a community hall have already been developed.

The proposal by the provincial government is to make the island "a full-scale recreational development."

But civic officials have stated they don't want Newcastle to become "another Coney Island."

Esquimalt voters yesterday returned three incumbents to municipal council.

Topping the poll was Coun. Arthur Fields with 930 votes. He was followed by Coun. G. K. Sammon, 872 votes, and Coun. Walter Holder, 699 votes.

Trailing in the council race were Peter Francis who polled 669 and Mrs. F. A. Browne with 502 votes.

TEAM WELCOMED

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, returned by acclamation for a fifth consecutive two-year term as chief magistrate, welcomed back the members of his "loyal council team."

Returning officer James Elrick said the total number of votes cast was 1,392 — some 37 per cent of the 3,697 eligible voters in the municipality.

Reeve Wurtele said he was disappointed the turnout didn't place Esquimalt in contention for the silver shield offered by the provincial government for the municipality with highest election vote.

He said a big problem to be overcome lies in the large number of service personnel on Esquimalt voters' list. He added numbers of voters were serving with RCN ships at sea and others who have bought property in the municipality for their retirement are at present serving on the East Coast.

WON'T GIVE UP

"But we're not going to give up," said the reeve. "We intend to win the silver shield for Esquimalt one of these years in the near future." The vote was about 6 per cent higher than last year.

Coun. Sammon said he had

hoped for a bigger turnout. He said he will propose to council next year that it take an active part in promoting greater interest among voters.

He suggested that the silver shield should be used to promote civic pride.

"I am very pleased to receive the vote of confidence from the people," said Coun. Sammon. "And I will continue to do my utmost to serve them."

POLICY ENDORSED

Coun. Fields said he was satisfied the return of three incumbents to council "shows the voters are in favor of council's policy of planned improvement."

He pledged to strive for continued progress in the municipality while holding the tax line.

Coun. Holder said he would continue to fight for better services without an increase in general taxation. He said the turnout of voters was "as large as we could hope."

Reeve Wurtele placed his car at the disposal of voters who had no transport and himself drove about 50 older people and those who had a long way to go to the polls.

TOO NEAR CHRISTMAS

He said he believes the elections this year were held "far too close" to Christmas. He added: "I drove one man this evening who said his wife would not come along because she was too tired after her Christmas shopping."

Fire Bylaw Passes

Chemainus 'Controls' Council in Cowichan

NORTH COWICHAN — Chemainus took over control of council here yesterday.

They also voted in favor of a bylaw that gives the fire department approval to borrow $55,000 to extend the hall and buy a truck.

Elected were retired dairy farmer Reginald Clegg, of Westholme, and store proprietor William Bowles, of Chemainus.

Trailing were incumbent Stanley Dyke who had served one term on the council, and Vernon Stanley-Jones, a newcomers to municipal politics here.

Three of the five council members are now residents of the Chemainus area.

Ballots cast were: Clegg, 953; Bowles, 765; Dyke, 503; and Stanley-Jones, 317. Chemainus decided the vote by 598 for Clegg and 592 for Bowles.

In the fire bylaw 434 voted for and 117 against it. Seventy per cent of the voters turned out to cast their ballots on the fire issue in the Chemainus area. In the whole municipality only about 30 per cent of the 3,965 eligible voted.

Murdoch Back In Oak Bay

PERCY NOEL

FRED HAWES

Oak Bay voters gave Reeve George Murdoch a smashing vote of confidence and elected three incumbents and a newcomer to Oak Bay council in yesterday's municipal elections.

Mr. Murdoch was returned to office for two years by a 2,892-761 count, defeating Geoffrey Ellis, who resigned his position on council to contest the reeveship.

FIRST YEAR

Alan L. Cox and Gordon Elworthy, now concluding their first year on the council, were returned for two more years, and Percy Noel beat out former councillor James Maitby for the third two-year seat. Incumbent Fred Hawes defeated Roger Peachey in the fight for the one-year seat left vacant by Mr. Ellis' resignation.

A total of 3,684 of the 7,899 voters, 46.6 per cent, cast ballots compared to 43.1 per cent last year. Record for Oak Bay is 49.8 per cent in 1948.

There was never much doubt in the vote for the reeveship. Polls closed at 8 p.m. and by 9:30 Mr. Ellis had conceded the election. "I'm glad to see George win by such a big majority," he said. "I would say it's an indication that the people are probably not in favor of paying their reeve and council."

SUPPORTED BYLAW

Mr. Ellis had supported a bylaw presented by Mr. Elworthy suggesting the reeve and council be put on salary, and had used it as one of the main issues in his campaign. Mr. Murdoch has been violently opposed to the move, which is still in abeyance, calling it a breach of faith.

"Naturally I'm pleased at the result," a quietly happy Mr. Murdoch said last night. "One thing that is most gratifying to a man in public office after finishing a term is to get such a resounding vote of confidence. That to me is something money can't buy."

COX TOPS POLLS

Mr. Cox, who introduced the fluoridation referendum which was defeated last night, topped the polls for council with 2,836 votes. He was followed by Mr. Elworthy, 2,503; Mr. Noel, 2,277, and Mr. Maitby, 2,029.

Perhaps the most surprising part of the election was the battle between Mr. Hawes and Mr. Peachey. A long-time veteran of the council, Mr. Hawes finally won out, 1,943 to 1,637.

"I'm gratified at the result, especially since I brought out the issue of paying the council," Mr. Elworthy said. "I feel I was right, and that the people of Oak Bay think I was right."

VERY HANDY

"It's very handy to be first on the ballot," Mr. Cox laughed. "I still have confidence in the voters of Oak Bay."

Mr. Noel called his election "an honor to even break into such experienced company. I feel that is a feat in itself."

STANLEY MURPHY

LESLIE PASSMORE

GREGORY COOK

Elected to Saanich Municipal Council

Cook Joins Murphy, Passmore

Sixth Time Proves Lucky For Persistent Candidate

Persistence paid off for a five-time loser in Saanich elections yesterday when he joined two incumbent councillors at the top of a list of seven candidates and won a two-year term of office.

Belmont High School manual arts teacher Gregory Cook was elected to council on his sixth bid for office.

Re-elected with substantial majorities were Couns. Stanley Murphy and Leslie Passmore.

SMALL POLL

A mere 24 per cent of Saanich electors cast ballots. Coun. Murphy, chief lieutenant to Reeve George Chatterton, topped the Saanich poll with a 304 lead over Coun. Passmore.

His heavy majority of 3,224 votes out of a possible 5,454 split among seven candidates was termed by Reeve Chatterton "a triumph for community planning, a triumph for this administration."

"Mr. Murphy said he will continue to 'strive for a fully planned, fully integrated municipality.'"

He termed passage of a parks purchase fund referendum by Saanich electors "an example of the farsightedness of the people of Saanich and an indication that long-range planning is becoming popular."

TAKEN IN STRIDE

One-time Saanich reeve Leslie Passmore, who ran second in the voting, took his re-election in stride and was unable to recall offhand whether next year would be his 19th or 20th on Saanich council.

"I've been around a long time," he told newsmen, "and I'm glad to see I have a few friends left."

Mr. Cook will move into the council seat of the man who defeated him in a byelection only a few months ago—Coun. Joseph Casey, who recently announced he would not seek re-election.

TAX RELIEF BID

Mr. Cook, who ran third in the voting with a comfortable margin of 401 votes over his nearest rival, one-time councillor R. J. Fleming, said he intends to use his council seat as a means of promoting tax relief for elderly property owners.

Two sewerage bylaws voted on only in the Tillicum-White-side area, were roundly defeated. Requiring a 60 per cent majority approval, they brought dismal returns of 101 negative, 14 affirmative, and 100 negative, 16 affirmative.

Defeat of the sewerage measure came as no surprise to Saanich officials, who agreed previously that the cost to the ratepayers was extremely high.

David Woodsworth, director of the Family and Children's Service for Greater Victoria, was swept to victory in a four-way battle for a School District 63 seat with a 70-vote margin over his nearest rival in a contest which drew only slightly more than 1,000 voters.

Motorcycle, Car Crash On Gorge

A motorcyclist was taken to hospital after he was in collision with a car on Gorge Road at Earl Grey at 10:40 p.m. yesterday.

Francis Bronce of HMCS Margaree was treated at Naden Hospital for abrasions and bruises.

Police said he was overtaking a car driven east on the Gorge by Harold Morton, 2831 Earl Grey, when the car made a left turn onto Earl Grey. Damage to the motorcycle was estimated at $75 and to car at $100.

$83,000 Bylaw Passes

Central Saanich 'Wants Water'

Reeve H. Rupert Brown said last night the success of the $83,000 bylaw yesterday in Central Saanich means "we have brought water to the municipality for those who want it."

The reeve said "no one will be forced" into the scheme and the municipality will not solicit water users.

He said the 474-256 vote—64.15 per cent in favor—has made it clear "we have enough people who genuinely want water to initially carry the project."

For the others, the reeve said, "we are satisfied that without any soliciting on our part they will come forward as they find a need for water. The engineer will provide them with a cost estimate."

The $83,000 bylaw funds will be used to purchase a federal government pipeline from Elk Lake to the vicinity of Patricia Bay and to build a reservoir on Mount Newton. The new system will be entirely automatic.

Reeve Brown said he was "very gratified" at the turnout of over 50 per cent of the voters—730 out of 1,450 eligible—considering many of those on the voters' list live outside the municipality in California and Eastern Canada.

U.S. Forfeits 1959 Race With Red Space Experts

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States Thursday postponed a rocket launching toward Venus and forfeited its last 1959 chance to move back into the space race with Russia.

A three-stage Thor-Able rocket was scheduled to hurl a 90-pound package deep into space, yesterday. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the shot has been called off "because of electronic problems which arose in the final checkout of the instrumented payload."

Duncan Holiday Cheer Fund Deluged With Food from High School Students

DUNCAN — The Christmas cheer fund office was deluged under cases of food yesterday — donated by Cowichan junior-high school students. And the 850 students who donated 1,625 tins — filling 29 large boxes — were praised for their generosity in donating to the school's Junior Red Cross drive.

Students gave an average of 1.5 tins each, increasing the results of the drive by 200 per cent over the last two years. Division 18 took top prize when 30 students donated 277 tins.

"Their spirit of generosity shows how the whole school feels," said Red Cross president James Carlson.

He will present the division with its prizes, a box of oranges now and a plaque that has yet to be made but will be given on awards day next spring.

Second prize will go to division 11. The 25 students in the class gave 121 tins. There was a tie between divisions 1 and 13 which donated 68 articles each.

Food, toys and money can still be donated for the cheer fund at the Colonist office, 30 Kenneth, or at the fund office on Kenneth near Jubilee.

Alberni Mayor Luckhurst Loses to Mabel Anderson

Mayor Jordon Easy Winner

Biggest upset in municipal elections on Vancouver Island yesterday came in Alberni, where newcomer Mrs. Mabel Susan Anderson narrowly defeated Mayor Jack Luckhurst, who was seeking his third term.

Mrs. Anderson polled 587 votes to 533 for Mr. Luckhurst. A resident of the city for 30 years, Mrs. Anderson is secretary of the Alberni Ratepayers' Association.

The contest brought out a record vote for the city with 1,141 out of 1,845 eligible voters taking part. The vote was steady all day.

LOSER PLEASED

Ex-mayor Luckhurst said, following his defeat, he was pleased to see so many voters casting ballots.

"We have seen democracy at work today," he said, and added, "... and you can't always win."

In the election of three aldermen for council, incumbents Charles Blair and Russell Foxcroft were re-elected but challenger George Dunbar narrowly defeated Ald. George McRae for the third seat.

FOX-CROFT LEADS

Ald. Foxcroft polled 515 votes; Ald. Blair, 491; and Ald. Dunbar, 488. Other figures: McRae, 478; W. Terrence Neale, 420; Laurence Stickley, 332; Mrs. Bernice Jones, 329.

The $600,000 sewerage system bylaw was soundly defeated, pulling only 373 votes in favor to 724 against.

SMALLER TURNOUT

Competition in Port Alberni did not draw as much interest among voters as in Alberni. Only about 50 per cent of eligible voters—2,129 out of 4,262—went to the polls.

Mayor Loran Jordon soundly defeated challenger Gustav Frigstad, 1,475 votes to 571.

TWO INCUMBENTS

In the election of three aldermen, two incumbents, Douglas Mallory and Fred Weaver, were re-elected but Norman Odgers, the third incumbent, was defeated. Newcomer elected in his place was Earle Bowen, who topped the poll with 1,064 votes.

Other figures: Mallory, 1,050; Weaver, 860; George Folkard, 788; Odgers, 704; George McKnight, 617; Alex Gillfillin, 514.

The three incumbent aldermen at Courtenay — Myrtle

Churchill W. Bernard, with 278 votes and W. J. Sanderson with 293 were elected to the village commission, defeating Allan Carey who polled 178.

A total of 749 electors cast ballots out of 976 eligible voters.

CAMPBELL RIVER

Challenger Robert Jamieson defeated village commission chairman J. D. Bundy by nine votes in Campbell River. Mr. Jamieson polled 469 votes to Mr. Bundy's 460.

Another upset came in the election of two village commissioners when newcomer William Hogg defeated incumbent Barney Box.

VOTE TOTALS

Commissioner Jack Lee was re-elected and topped the poll with 571 votes. Mr. Hogg polled 374; Mr. Box, 321; Mrs. June Bootle, 310, and Harry Eastwood, 195.

A third upset came in the election of school trustees when Joe Iaci, school board chairman for 9½ years, was soundly defeated by Mrs. Ann Jackson, a book store owner.

Mrs. Jackson tied with the other retiring trustee, Cyril Hague, each polling 508 votes and taking the two seats open. Mr. Iaci drew 407 votes and Frank Douglas, 404.

LAKE COWICHAN

Two new commissioners were elected to the village council at Lake Cowichan during one of the busiest elections in years.

They are Walden C. Juhenville, who led the polls with 316 votes, and Gerald K. Cessford, with 284. A. L. Trace, who has served one term, trailed with 261 votes and lost his seat.

TURNOUT GOOD

Returning officer W. A. Chappell was amazed at the turnout, "considering there were no bylaws or a contest for chairman."

There were 537 ballots cast of an eligible 876, making a 60 per cent turnout. Declared chairman by acclamation.

Giant Carol Concert Slated for Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Douglas J. Kirkbride will emcee a giant carol concert in Nanaimo Senior High School auditorium at 7.30 p.m. Monday.

More than a dozen choirs will take part. Organist will be Dr. W. A. Nicholson.

Circulation Of Liquor Very Poor

DUNCAN — Chain letters for 26-ounce bottles of liquor are circulating here, at Chemainus and at Lake Cowichan—but it appears the circulation is poor.

Top man-stands to win 64 bottles, but the most won by one person here so far is 14.

Some members, on the lower rungs, have contributed their bottle as long as three days ago without receiving any in return.

Duncan Plays Seen by 1,000

DUNCAN—About 1,000 persons were entertained this week by 550 elementary school students here, who presented six Christmas plays.

The students were from Duncan, Zenith, York Road and Old Somenos elementary schools.

Jaycees Back Radio Station

DUNCAN — Jaycees have given their unanimous approval to the establishment of a radio station here headed by Mayor Jack Dobson.

Members of the club who run businesses also indicated they would be in favor of using it as an advertising medium, said Horst Nowrath, Jaycee president, yesterday.

The matter came up at a recent meeting after a letter was received asking for support.

It was signed by the mayor as president. Proposed name of the company is Cowichan and Gulf Island Broadcasting System Ltd.

Mayor Dobson said no date could be given when the "community station" will be able to go on the air.

Yesterday he said necessary funds have been raised, the engineering survey completed and technical and financial briefs sent to the board of broadcast governors.

The proposed company's application for a broadcasting licence will likely come up before the broadcast governors in Vancouver, where they start sittings Jan. 18.

The Jaycees' decision was the first of about 10 clubs who have been sent letters asking for their support.

The club at one time backed an application by Victoria's station CKDA to put a "satellite" station here, but later withdrew its support.

Boy Crashes Father's Car

DUNCAN — A 16-year-old Victoria High School student who had his driving licence for only a week before crashing his father's Cadillac, was charged with careless driving yesterday.

He pleaded not guilty, and got off with a warning after juvenile court heard conflicting evidence about speed when the car crashed off the Trans-Canada Highway.

Judge A. C. Sutton said the boy should be careful and that a car can be a "man-killing" machine.

British Sports Looks to 60s

By ED SIMON

LONDON (CP) — The British sports world enters the 1960s hopefully scanning a host of young and anonymous faces for signs of athletic immortality.

Nearly all the first post-war generation of luminaries have faded into retirement. The survivors attract the reminiscent applause of spectators who remember them in their prime. And there is a conspicuous lack of new heroes to take their place.

A revamped England cricket eleven is campaigning in the West Indies without Godfrey Evans to keep wicket after 87 Test match appearances over a 13-year span. Both Evans and Jim Laker, the crafty off-spin bowler who captured all 10 Australian wickets in a single Test innings, retired at the end of the 1959 season.

Billy Wright, captain and centre half of England's great post-war soccer side, has hung up his boots after more than 100 international appearances and his old teammates, Stanley Matthews and Tom Finney, confine their appearances to club matches.

Derek Ibbotson turned in the fastest British mile of 1959 and Gordon Pirie had the best time over two miles. But the veteran pair, both one-time world record holders, were unable to keep up with younger competitors abroad.

South Africa's Gary Player was the eighth consecutive non-resident to capture the British Open golf championship. The Ryder Cup, won by Britain two years ago, returned to the United States, which also retained its amateur equivalent, the Walker Cup. Britons were unable to win a major tennis championship at Wimbledon.

The usual ambitious contingent of British boxers tried and failed to win world titles and the country's oarsmen and scullers were outpaced by visiting rivals at Henley.

BLOW TO CRICKET

The saddest blow to national prestige was suffered in Australia, where England's cricketers not only failed to retain the mythical Ashes, which they had held since 1953, but managed only a single draw in the five Test matches.

In contrast to the dismal showing in Australia, county cricket flourished in one of the sunniest summers in years. Surrey, winner of seven straight championships lost the crown to a youthful, hard-hitting Yorkshire side.

NEW BROOM

The new broom swept with equal vigor through England's international soccer side after a summer tour of South and Central America brought successive defeats at the hands of Brazil, Peru and Mexico. The fall season opened with only three holdovers, fullback Don Howe, wing-half Ronnie Clayton and goalkeeper Eddie Hopkinson, in their accustomed places.

The first experimental moves brought mixed results—an unimpressive draw with Wales, a home defeat at the hands of Sweden and a victory over Northern Ireland.

The Swedish defeat, only the second in history at Wembley Stadium by a visiting side, resulted in the removal of Hopkinson and the return of Johnny Haynes, the scheming Fulham inside forward.

Another minor crisis occurred in a rugged when France, the only non-British side, finished on top of the four home countries in the international championships. England, the previous champions, completed the entire season without scoring a single try.

English breeders had a more successful season, training the winners of all but one of the country's turf classics. The outstanding performer was Prince Aly Khan's Petite Etiole, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks and undefeated throughout the summer.

Another filly, William Hill's Cantelo, which finished second behind Petite Etiole in the Oaks, enhanced her prestige by defeating Parthia, the Epsom Derby winner, in the St. Leger.

One of Britain's few prospects for track-and-field honors in the Olympic Games at Rome next August is 19-year-old Mary Bignal, who won the broad jump and 80-meter hurdles over formidable Russian opponents in an international meeting at Moscow.

Scotland's versatile Ian Black, whose world record time in the 400-meter medley awaits ratification, is Britain's outstanding challenger for Olympic swimming honors.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

It's a bit early for all-star teams but the Western Hockey League has its annual all-star game coming up, at Edmonton, Jan. 12, and weekend mail brought a ballot requesting the selection of three players for each position from the Vancouver, Seattle, Victoria and Spokane clubs.

Votes will be tabulated on five points for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third and a team of 15 players will be named to play a team similarly selected from players on the Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg clubs. These clubs are picked this season only for the all-star game and voting for the official all-star team will take place at or near the end of the season.

To this observer, three players stood out and no time was wasted in putting down Guyle Fielder as first choice for centre, Bill MacFarland, also of Seattle, as the top leftwinger and Ralph Keller of Vancouver, who always catches these eyes, as one of the two best defencemen. A fourth first-team spot was filled by giving the nod to Spokane's Al Johnson, over Victoria's Arnie Schmutz, Vancouver's Danny Belisle and Seattle's Marc Boileau as the No. 1 rightwinger.

After that, however, things got tougher. It was difficult to decide between Cougars' Marcel Pelletier and Vancouver's Hank Bassen for goal, particularly when Seattle's Bev Bentley is also doing a pretty fair job. On defence, Jack Blonda has been as good as anyone in the WHL for the past three weeks and there is always Seattle's Gordie Sinclair. Also fellows like Larry Gahan and Brent Macnab of Vancouver, Pete Wright of Victoria and a few others.

With Ed Dorohoy out because of injuries, Victoria's Art Jones, Seattle's Rudy Filion and Vancouver's Ray Cyr rate behind Fielder at centre. Behind MacFarland on the port wing are ex-Cougars Colin Kilburn and Bruce Carmichael and Earl Johnson of Spokane and, as mentioned, starboard wingers deserving consideration are Schmutz, Belisle and Boileau. And although neither is scoring with usual frequency, rightwinger Les Colwill of Vancouver and leftwinger Gordie Fashaway of Victoria should certainly be given a thought.

It all wound up with the following 18 players getting points from this ballot: Bassen, Pelletier, Bentley for goal; Keller, Sinclair, Blonda, Cahan, Wright and Macnab for defence; Fielder, Jones and Filion for centre; MacFarland, Kilburn and Carmichael for left-wing, and Al Johnson, Schmutz and Belisle for right-wing.

Random Harvest

Red McMillan as the next coach of the Nanaimo entry in the Inter-City Lacrosse League and Jack Blonda as his star player? It could be a good guess. Blonda and McMillan are going into the hotel business, as partners, in the Hub City and the Nanaimo club would be missing a bet if it didn't take advantage of the situation . . . and any lacrosse fan will hope it comes to pass as Nanaimo lacrosse could use that kind of a boost after the near-disastrous 1959 season . . . and a report reaches here that Victoria Shamrocks have either signed or are trying to sign Lou Nickle, veteran defenceman who played here in the Mann Cup final with Peterborough . . . also on lacrosse, there is little chance that Blonda will ever again line up with the Shamrocks. If he doesn't transfer to Nanaimo, he'll likely be with New Westminster O'Keefes again . . . Hal Laycoe, manager-coach of the Victoria Cougars, would like to remind hockey fans who have a Christmas problem that gift certificates good for any desired number of Western Hockey League games are on sale at club offices in Memorial Arena . . . soccer fans everywhere in the Pacific Northwest will mourn the death of Barney Kempton, who labored long in an almost losing cause trying to boost the sport in Seattle. He passed away over the weekend and was buried Wednesday . . . Barry Naimark, who surprised by winning the B.C. curling championship last February, will have to make it through the "back door" again if he's going to repeat. Naimark's rink was eliminated Wednesday night in playdowns at the Vancouver Curling Club and his only chance now to get into the provincial finals is to qualify again at the B.C. Bonspiel, set for Kelowna, Feb. 8-13 . . . for those trying to figure out the winner of the National Football League final between New York Giants and Baltimore Colts, the Giants hold a big edge defensively. They held opponents to 105 rushing yards and 132 passing yards a game average of 130 yards on the ground and 195 in the air. But the Colts have Johnny Unitas and Ray Berry and it should be quite a game.

GUESSING DEPARTMENT: Seattle, Vancouver and Winnipeg in tonight's WHL games, just to go along with the home clubs. Battling average to date: At bat 72, hits 39, percentage .542.

Speaking Briefly

Williams' Pay Only $60,000 Instead of $100,000 Figure

More than a few eyebrows were raised at Miami, Fla., when slugging star Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox told a judge that his salary during the past baseball season was $60,000 and not the widely-publicized $100,000 figure.

Williams also told Judge George Holt that he has not yet received a contract from the Red Sox for next season and doubted whether he could play because of injuries and age.

The 41-year-old outfielder said his income from all sources last year was $83,000. He made the statements in opposing a petition by his ex-wife, Mrs. Doris Ruby Tridico, to increase his daughter's monthly maintenance from $100 to $250. His wife remarried in 1956.

Judge Holt took the petition under advisement after hearing Williams, divorced in Miami in 1955. At that time he said his yearly income was $110,000.

WAYNE ROBINSON's new four-year contract as head coach of B.C. Lions was ratified by directors of the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union club . . . New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and Springfield Indians of the American League extended their working agreement one year to May, 1961 . . . Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League have signed Ron Mix, number one draft choice of the National League Baltimore Colts.

Chargers also signed Garry Finneran, a tackle and mate of Mix's at University of Southern California . . . A last-ditch effort to save Chatham Maroons will be made as a result of a meeting between Ontario Hockey Association officials and representatives of the Chatham Association.

the second when Billy Harris of Toronto and defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot of Montreal tangled on the boards. Gerry James, Winnipeg football hero making his season's start with Toronto, jumped Talbot.

Then Dickie Moore of Montreal got into the act and the two teams squared off all over the ice. The ruckus finally ended when the 10 players were herded into the penalty box.

Montreal's Jean Beliveau and Toronto's Tim Horton drew majors for the battle while Bernie Geoffrion, Tom Johnson, Talbot, and Moore of Montreal received minors along with Toronto's James, Harris, Alan Stanley and Johnny Wilson.

Temper flared again at 15:58 of the third when Marcel Bonin, returning to action after a three-game layoff, tangled with Duke Edmundson of Toronto and the pair wound up with majors. Four minutes later James provoked Montreal's Henri Richard into a shoving duel and both received minors.

Toronto's George Armstrong was handed a misconduct by Powers for arguing the penalties.

Montreal goals were scored by Beliveau, Bonin, Bill Hicke, Claude Provost, Doug Harvey, Richard, Albert Langlois and Ralph Backstrom as the Canadiens outshot Toronto 53-31.

Toronto scorers were Johnny Wilson and Armstrong.

OLIVER STARS

Meanwhile, rookie Murray Oliver scored twice in the final period at Detroit to give the Red Wings a 3-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks and run the club's unbeaten streak to six games. Detroit is now five points ahead of third-place Toronto and trails the league-leading Canadiens by six points.

At Montreal, the teams played the final period with fans in a continual uproar. Referee Powers was in the thick of an argument just after the period started as to the sequence of the major and minor penalties and also a delayed minor penalty to Henri Richard that came at the end of the second.

Before the discussions and arguments were settled, NHL president Clarence Campbell went to the timekeeper's box to explain things.

'WE WANT STOREY'

The crowd became impatient and, displeased with Powers' work, began to chant "We want Storey, we want Storey." Red Storey resigned last spring during the Stanley Cup semi-finals, after he had been publicly criticized by Campbell.

Canadiens and Leafs engaged in a record penalty-studded game at Toronto Dec. 9, 1953, where at one time the benches were cleared and misconduct penalties assessed. A total of 204 minutes were handed out that night compared to 70 minutes last night. Montreal had tied three and lost three prior to last night's game. Canadiens led 4-2 entering the final period.

Langlois' goal was his first in the NHL. He is in his second season with Montreal.

SETS HIM UP

Only 14 games out of the minor leagues after being brought up from Edmonton Flyers, Oliver was the star at Detroit. Linemate Gary Aldorn set up Oliver for the tying and winning goals and scored Detroit's opening goal.

Chicago raced to a 2-0 first-period lead on goals by Bobby Hull, his 16th, and Eric Nesterenko, his eighth.

Aldorn made it 2-1 at 18:58 of the second, Oliver, who has now scored seven times, beat Chicago goalie Glen Hall with a 12-footer for the equalizer with 10 minutes remaining.

Oliver's winner came when he turned a shot into the far corner with less than four minutes remaining.

Forum Penalty Box Crowded Spot As Leafs, Habs Exchange Punches

Referee Eddie Powers ordered all players on the ice, excluding goaltenders, to the penalty box Thursday night in Montreal in an unprecedented National Hockey League move that followed a wild second-period brawl between Toronto and Montreal.

Powers handed out 24 penalties, 13 to Toronto in the rough game played before 13,998 fans as the Canadiens snapped a winless streak at six games with an 8-2 win over the Maple Leafs.

The big brawl broke out late in the second when Billy Harris of Toronto and defenceman Jean-Guy Talbot of Montreal tangled on the boards. Gerry James, Winnipeg football hero making his season's start with Toronto, jumped Talbot.

Too Many Entries For Tree Tourney

An overflow entry list for The Daily Colonist Christmas Tree Golf Tournament has resulted in an announcement from officials that a draw will be made shortly to lower the number of male participants from 122 to 96.

The draw will eliminate 28 men. The official's statement also means that not everyone who has entered will be able to play in the tournament and golfers are asked to bear this in mind.

Only 32 ladies have entered thus far, leaving 58 spaces unfilled of the required 90. Lists of the tournament golfers will be published later. Only mailed entry forms, with Dec. 16 postmarks, are being accepted for the men's division.

The popular Boxing Day tournament will be held at the Victoria Club for men and Uplands for ladies.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

The funeral chapel at Frank E. Campbell's was packed. Flowers were banked high and immediately above the casket was a life-sized portrait of a fighter, a tousled kid in black trunks with red stripes, with the sloping shoulders of a puncher. There was a eulogy by Joey Adams, a serious comic with deep feeling in the quiet tones that spoke of his friend, Tony Canzoneri.

Joey walked about the of 14, wearing short pants and carrying his cap in a fist, whom Pete Herman sent up from New Orleans to Sammy Goldman, to win and lose the feather-weight championship of the world, to win and lose the light-weight championship, to win and lose the junior welterweight title. He told about the happy little guy who, having finished fighting, was his partner in show business for 12 years, and there was a guy listening who kept remembering Lou Ambers as Joey talked.

Tony won the lightweight title from Ambers in 1935 and lost it back to him the next year and when Lou caught the act with Adams he was offended because there was a bit of clowning where Joey slapped Tony.

"He shouldn't hit Tony," Lou said, not appreciating the comedy, and never thinking how often and how hard he himself had hit Tony over 30 rounds. Like everybody else who knew him, Lou loved Tony. And in his book, nobody should ever hit the champ.

Main Event for Tony

This was, as Joey said, the main event for Tony. Everything else had been a preliminary, up to and including the moment when he was found dead of a heart attack in his tiny room in a mid-Manhattan hotel.

All the seats in the chapel were taken before services started, and more of Tony's friends kept arriving quietly to stand in the rear and along one side.

There were fighters there from Tony's time and earlier and later—Paul Berlenbach, Gus Lesenevich, Ruby Goldstein, Rocky Graziano, Abe Attell and Barney Ross, who had two wars with Tony and won 'em both.

There were guys from the fight mob—Teddy Brenner and Emil Lence and Sam Taub and Billy Brown and Murray Goodman and Harry Markson and Toots Shor and dozens of others. It was simple and quiet and warm, and if Tony weren't beyond earthly happiness now he would have been very happy, for these were all his friends and he was a guy who loved his friends.

Afterward there was a luncheon involving a sort of year-end report by an organization called One Hundred Friends, Inc., a group that ought to be known more widely than it is. In its quiet way it seems to be getting known, for after three years' existence the Hundred Friends now count 170-odd members, and maybe one day the name will have to be changed.

Not a Big Charity

The group has a single purpose. Once a year its members are allowed to contribute up to $100 each, but no more, and the money is used to help those in need who have, or have had, some connection with sports.

It isn't a big charity and it doesn't do a spread-eagle job and there's never been a line of publicity concerning individual cases. It isn't ambitious, either; the original goal was 100 members at $100 or less, though of course nobody who wants to get in is turned down.

Neither is anybody turned down who needs and deserves help. Generally the recipients haven't had to ask. Somebody in the group hears about a case and he telephones an officer and a cheque goes out, just like that.

There's the case, for example, of a great old ball player who has been under medical care for many years. Lately his sight has been failing, and although he had never been on the roll of the Hundred Friends and none of them had been in touch with him for years, one of them heard about it.

This member got the word on a Tuesday that the fellow's sight might be saved if he could have an operation. On Wednesday a cheque was in the mail, and a few days from now the man will be in New York for the operation to prevent blindness.

Nobody gives the Hundred Friends any applause for this. They don't want any. They take a $100 deduction on the income tax, and what they bank there's no way of counting.

Rangers Add Another Event

Following last weekend's successful turkey shoot, South Vancouver Island Rangers will hold a similar event at 9.30 a.m. Sunday at the club grounds on Happy Valley Road.

Running-deer targets will once again feature the shoot. Regulation 100-yard targets will be in effect but there will be no trap events on the program.

Large-bore rifles only may be used by contestants.

U.K. Street Bookies Aroused By Government Betting Act

LONDON (AP) — Britain's illegal street corner bookmakers were up in arms Thursday, charging that the government is trying to run them out of business.

They announced the formation of the Street Bookmakers' Federation (SBF) to fight a new government-supported betting act being considered in Parliament.

"The big bookmakers will monopolize the betting business if this bill goes through," said Wilfred (Nozzie) Sherman of Cardiff, Wales. Sherman was elected chairman of SBF at a secret meeting of some 200 street bookies from England and Wales.

At present, the only legal off-course wagering in Britain is on credit, with bets placed by telephone or mail. Settlement must be made by mail. The legal bookmaker never sees his client, and vice versa.

The bill before Parliament would legalize betting shops.

None Since Barbara Ann Scott

Skating Medals This Time?

By JACK SULLIVAN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada hasn't won an Olympic figure-skating championship since Barbara Ann Scott dazzled the North American and European scene with footwork in the post-war years. No other athlete had brought Canada such renown as Ottawa's golden-haired beauty.

"BA," now a Chicago beauty parlor operator, climaxed one of the most glittering sports achievements by a Canadian in February, 1948. In a whirlwind 15-day round of championships and skating carnivals she swept everything in sight — the European, world and Olympic crowns.

She was a world-known personality and the only Canadian to win an Olympic figure-skating title. Now, with the 1960 Winter Olympic Games scheduled for Squaw Valley, Calif. (Feb. 18-28), Canadians are looking for their second, and possibly third, champion in this ice-doodling sport.

Experts of the highly-complicated manoeuvres on ice are optimistic that 19-year-old Don Jackson of Oshawa, Ont., and the pairs team of Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner of Toronto could be the next Games' gold medalists. Their records prove they are the best in the country since Barbara Ann's days.

Jackson, who took up the sport 11 years ago, is considered possibly the greatest free-skater in the world. In his program is the triple flip which calls for three turns in the air from straight-back toe-point takeoff.

Skaters call this one of the most difficult feats in the sport and Jackson is the only North American skater to use it in competition. He won the Canadian and North American titles this year and was a close second to Dave Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo. in the world tournament last March.

Jackson finished seventh in the world championship in 1957 and moved up to fourth in 1958.

The Barbara Wagner-Paul combination won world titles in 1957-58-59. The experienced Toronto team has taken on all comers in the last three years and practically ran away from the opposition.

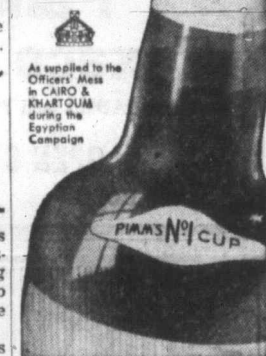

In the world championships at Colorado Springs last February they were the unanimous choice of all nine judges. They have been skating together the last five years and haven't lost a tournament since 1956.

"The ordinary street bookies will be outbid for the necessary real estate for betting shops. They will be unable to compete and that will be the end of them."

Street bookies and agents grabbed by police are usually fined $5 to $25 ($14 to $70) and they merely regard it as a sort of licence fee. They are back on the same old corner the next day.

For a Girl

Pretty Good Job

CONROY, Iowa (AP)—"You did a pretty good job," said a high school fan, "pretty good, that is, for a girl."

He was complimenting Mrs. Carol Ziegler, wife of a Presbyterian minister at Ames, after she officiated two basketball games here the other night.

"A little hesitant in calling fouls, perhaps," said coach Warren Johnson, whose Chelsea boys lost to Conroy 54-45, "But it was a good job."

"I didn't pay any attention to complaints during the game," said Mrs. Ziegler, the first woman to officiate a sanctioned basketball game in Iowa.

"It's just like when I played girls basketball at Olin," the 22-year-old housewife added. "When the game starts the noise from the sidelines just doesn't come through."

Mrs. Ziegler said she wasn't nervous, despite a hectic trip in which a traffic accident held her up and made her 10 minutes late for the girls game, first contest of a doubleheader.

The largest crowd of the season gave Mrs. Ziegler a big hand when she came on the court dressed in black slacks and a striped shirt.

The prep band serenaded the former Iowa beauty queen with "five foot two, eyes of blue," at the half.

"I'm getting used to it," Mrs. Ziegler laughed. "I've worked four games in the last five nights, although I couldn't get a job at first."

Among the letters Mrs. Ziegler has received is one from a woman in Washington state, who said she collects shoes of famous basketball players and would like one of Carol's to add to her collection.

You can count the dollars you save on Meteor's new ideas in economy!

1960 Meteor Montcalm Four-door Hardtop, one of Ford of Canada's fine cars.

Measure Meteor's savings yourself. It is actually quite simple. First, you look under the hood. Both standard engines, Six and V-8, deliver top performance on low-cost regular gas. You also save on gas mileage. The Short-Stroke Econ-O-Fuel Six takes you up to 24 miles to the gallon. Next, look again. Notice the new Full-Flow oil filter, standard on all 12 Meteor models. It keeps oil clean through as much as 4,000 miles driving. You can save as many as nine oil changes a year. But even though the all-new 1960 Meteor saves like an economy car—it has the look and feel of a fine-bred custom car. Its new beauty is sculptured and clean. Its new comfort is a full six passengers big. And its price—only a few dollars more than cars with none of these new-idea Meteor features:

Distinctively Canadian styling with an aerodynamic flow—and a new choice of three different passenger car rooflines. Choice of three gas-saving Short-Stroke engines—Two great Tempest V-8's and the miserly, famous Econ-O-Fuel Six. Choice of three transmissions—including two automatics—superb Dual-Range or the new, low-cost Econ-O-Matic. Meteor's new Self-Levelling rear suspension takes the squat out of take-off acceleration and the dip from sudden stops.

New comfort and convenience—such as wide-opening doors, 11-position front seats, overlapping windshield wipers. All of Meteor's new ideas are designed for a single purpose—your driving pleasure. See your Meteor dealer soon.

Stool Pigeon from Underworld

Crook Cracked Ring

(The jailing of narcotics kingpin Giuseppe (Pepi) Cotroni recently smashed one of North America's biggest crime syndicates. The inside story of the undercover police work that led to the break-up of the ring is told in this article, the first of two.)

By BILL SEMANS

MONTREAL (TNS)—Even the underworld helped break Canada's biggest dope case.

For the "special employee" who tripped up narcotics kingpin Pepi Cotroni was recruited from the fringes of the underworld.

And the gang leaders themselves—frustrated after one bungled attempt to kill Cotroni—wanted him out of the way for good just as much as the law.

But the case is also destined for the pages of criminology texts as a classic of meticulous, ingenious and courageous police work.

The collapse of the ring—the $100,000,000-a-year dream of the pasty-faced Cotroni, came with such terrible swiftness that it left a vacuum that the gangsters of the U.S. and Canada have not yet filled.

For the Cotroni collapse also opened the way to prosecution of Canada's biggest crime syndicate, the band of criminals who engineered the $12,000,000 Brockville, Ont., bond robbery.

It also destroyed the self-created myth that Cotroni and his self-styled "super criminals" were beyond the law.

But it took five years of hard work by top law enforcement officers of two countries and the gloves-off legal blows of an able prosecutor to close the file on Cotroni and his vision of the biggest dope ring in the Western world.

Patient police work by the T-men and the RCMP uncovered a trail that led to Pepi Cotroni, a 45-year-old spaghetti parlor operator who was one of the Canadian members of the Mafia.

But, an undercover agent needed an introduction or it might take years to bait the trap.

... trapped

"Edward Smith"—his real identity will never be disclosed—who was on the fringe of the Montreal underworld.

Smith visited New York, where he sought contacts to buy dope. He was startled when he was told he could get his "buy" in his own city.

Smith was convinced and returned to Montreal with a tough Italian-American "hood," in real life Patrick Biase, a top T-man.

Biase came with all the documents needed to convince Cotroni that he was a top racketeer boy in New York. Weeks went into the preparation for Biase's cover.

Finally, the trap was baited but the underworld, with no idea that the police of two nations were closing in on Cotroni, were setting their own trap.

For Pepi Cotroni, with visions of grandeur, had entered another field—stolen bonds—and had gathered together the biggest gang of bandits Canada has ever seen.

Within two years bank vaults in Canada had been looted of $15,000,000 in negotiable bonds.

So the underworld put the kiss of death on Pepi Cotroni for violating its newly established rule—no gangster was allowed to be in more than one field of crime, because, if he were caught, the police net could sweep the board clean.

Build City Roads

The time is right for a change in emphasis on B.C.'s road program from rural areas to the metropolitan areas, a delegation from the B.C. Automobile Association told the provincial cabinet yesterday.

From one-third to one-half the provincial revenue from motorists comes from the areas in which the provincial government makes very little reinvestment in highways, a brief presented to cabinet stated.

"The road program of the B.C. government, as good as it has been, is almost entirely outside the metropolitan areas," it said.

It pointed out more than half of all vehicles in the province are based in the metropolitan areas and that about 80 per cent of the metropolitan motorist's driving is within his own area.

Beauty Means Hard Work

Hard at work on a front-yard Christmas display for the Junior Chamber of Commerce home lighting contest,

Mrs. Ray Hunt, 521 Whiteside, finishes a huge Santa Claus. She placed third in the novice class last year.

Buy or Get Out

The provincial government may sell by public tender some 18,000 acres of Doukhobor-occupied land in the Kootenay district, unless Doukhobors take up an offer by the government to sell them the land at 60 per cent of its assessed value in 1953.

That is the main recommendation in the fifth interim report on Doukhobor lands, submitted to the government by Mr. Justice A. E. Lord.

Attorney-General Bonner indicated yesterday the Doukhobors will be given until Dec. 31, 1960, to take up the government offer on the 875 parcels of land, and that then all remaining parcels will be sold to the general public at going rates.

Offer to the Doukhobors was first made Oct. 9, 1954, and since then there have only been 19 valid applications for purchase and only five sales negotiated.

The Doukhobor lands have been and are being, in almost all cases, continuously occupied by members of the Doukhobor people at rents less than the economic rental value of the lands, and in many instances at no rental at all, the Lord report stated.

Mr. Justice Lord said he could find no reasonable justification on the part of the Doukhobors for their continued failure to make application for the purchase of the lands and urged a more vigorous land sales program on the part of the government.

He said that any Doukhobor who has to be evicted could move to Krestova, which, he recommended, should not be affected by the sales.

Gas and Oil Seekers Pay Millions to B.C.

A newcomer into the British Columbia oil business yesterday paid $1,098,448 for natural gas and oil leases on 1,956 acres in the Boundary Lake region of northeast British Columbia.

Amerada Petroleum Corporation, one of the biggest independents in the United States, with extensive Texas holdings, paid more than one-quarter of the money raised yesterday in this year's third crown reserve auction, which brought in $3,917,141 in bonus bids, fees and rentals.

A new record price of $811 an acre was paid by Dome Petroleum Ltd. for 652 acres in the Boundary Lake area. It paid $528,704 for the parcel.

B.C. Gets Big Boost In Britain

LONDON (CP)—British businessmen and exporters were told yesterday that British Columbia is a land of new horizons.

The weekly Board of Trade Journal—an official government publication—devoted six pages of the current issue to highlight opportunities in the West Coast province and to describe the postwar wave of expansion.

"In an area the size of France, West Germany and Benelux combined, the scope for further development is tremendous," said the report by W. K. Ward, Britain's trade commissioner at Vancouver.

"British Columbia is one of the World's great concentrations of resources."

The review was published as part of Britain's program to keep exporters informed about growing markets and to provide them with authoritative information about trade developments.

murder of gangster Roger Touhy.

They agreed that the infamous international crime organization called the Mafia or the allied Chicago crime syndicate once ruled by Scarface Al Capone sent two hired gunmen to cliff down Touhy Wednesday night just 23 days after his parole from a 25-year prison sentence.

POSSIBLE MOTIVES

U.S. Attorney Robert Ticken and Richard B. Ogilvie, a special assistant U.S. attorney, general directing a federal investigation of Chicago crime, said the motive could have been vendetta vengeance or insurance that the 61-year-old beer baron of the roaring 20s would never tell all he knew about the crime syndicate.

Police established that the killers kept watch on Touhy's home for 10 days from a basement hideout across the street before gunning him down at close range as he mounted the front steps with his body guard and boyhood friend, ex-police sergeant Walter Miller, 62.

LIVED FOR HOUR

Detective John Ascher said the killers aimed too low, allowing Touhy to cling to life for more than an hour before bleeding to death and Miller to survive in critical condition.

But the assassins had accomplished what Capone's gangsters could never do—Roger Touhy, the soft-spoken, hard-eyed policeman's son, had finally got his.

Touhy's murder was the most important underworld slaying in Chicago since Capone's mob crippled the Bugs Moran gang in the infamous St. Valentine's Day massacre of 1929. Nationally, it was the most significant gang killing since the slaying of Albert Anastasia in New York.

Ticken saw the mark of the Mafia, the Sicilian black hand society reputed to rule the underworld, in Touhy's murder. "They killed him to impress other members that no matter how wrong it takes, they will seal your lips forever," Ticken said.

Student Firms Plan Set

City business firms will be canvassed early next year for the initial capital necessary to set up from six to eight small companies which will be managed and operated by high school students.

The companies, each of which will consist of some 25 Grade 10 and 11 students manufacturing and selling their own choice of product, will be launched into business next September by the youth development committee of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A Jaycee official said yesterday that a total of $8,000 will be necessary to get the companies operating, and about $4,000 a year thereafter to keep the program going.

BONUS GAME

TO OUR CONSUMER FRIENDS

In respect of action taken Dec. 16 by the Vancouver city police we wish to clarify the position as we see it.

At the request of the Attorney-General's Department 10 days ago, particulars of the Bonus Game were furnished.

The Attorney-General's Department was also informed that any further information required would be immediately forthcoming. Furthermore, similar information and assurances were also given to the RCMP and Vancouver city police. Sample cards were given to the police.

We therefore deplore and protest the action taken whereby the Vancouver city police, acting under search warrants, called at our markets in the City of Vancouver as well as at our head office and seized supplies of unused cards, which we understand, are to be used ostensibly for further investigation, despite the fact that full information had already been given.

We feel this was most unnecessary and unfair in view of our co-operation with the authorities.

There are three main points to consider:

1. We had already provided the Attorney-General's Department with full particulars regarding the Bonus Game, AND THIS WAS DONE VOLUNTARILY.
2. There was no need to issue search warrants to seize what had already been made available. In our opinion this is a gross misuse or waste of the taxpayers' money.
3. We do not agree that the Bonus Game comes under the heading of trading stamps. We feel that this "Bonus Game" is perfectly legal.

We Shall Continue to Keep You Up to Date on Developments.

FRED FULTON

Victoria Press Staff Changes

Appointment of J. C. Melville as business manager of Victoria Press Ltd. was announced yesterday by Stuart Keate, vice-president. A long-time resident of Victoria and veteran of the RCNVR, Mr. Melville since 1951 has been controller of the firm. Named as Commercial manager of Colonist Printers Ltd. and Colonist Lithographers is James Dickson. Mr. Dickson succeeds E. G. Porter, who has resigned. Mr. Dickson, who began his printing and graphic arts career at age 15 with a handset weekly in Manitoba, is well-known as a curler and is a former Macdonald's Brier competitor. Appointed superintendent of the firm's commercial operations is Fred Fulton, a native of Victoria with 15 years' service with Colonist Printers.

Caught in Verbal Barrage, Freight Hearings Adjourn

OTTAWA (CP) — Still caught in Prairie-railway verbal crossfire, Canada's royal commission on transportation Thursday adjourned its hearings on Western grain freight rates until mid-January.

Juggling with dates in a bid to please everyone, the royal commission finally decided to postpone its next public hearings in Ottawa for one week—starting Jan. 18 instead of Jan. 11.

The commission also set its itinerary for regional hearings in Western Canada.

Sessions are to be held in Winnipeg Feb. 8, 9 and 10; Regina Feb. 12, 13 and 15; Edmonton Feb. 16, 17 and 18; Victoria Feb. 19, 20 and 22; Vancouver Feb. 22, 23. Place of the hearings in each city will be announced later.

It was decided that the cost experts of the Prairie governments and grain interests will meet with the railway economists Jan. 13-15 either here or in Montreal.

Britain Extends Benefits

LONDON (CP) — The government yesterday announced that persons coming to Britain from Canada will qualify more quickly for family allowances, unemployment benefits and retirement pensions after Jan. 1.

Families from Canada will begin drawing family allowances immediately if they become British residents.

Persons over 70 claiming retirement pensions will be able to count each week of residence in Canada as a national insurance contribution paid in Britain.

In an extreme case, a man who left Britain when he was 18 and stayed in Canada until he was 69 can return and begin drawing a retirement pension after a year's residence.

West Coast Line Plans New Ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Maritime Board yesterday awarded a $44,500,000 contract for four cargo-passenger ships to the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, Newport News, Va.

The mariner-type vessels will be built for States Steamship Company, San Francisco, and will be used on routes between the west coast and the Far East.

Newport News Shipbuilding submitted a low bid of $11,134,835 for each of the four ships, with a provision for an increase if costs rise.

Liberal Group Picks Hummel

David Hummel was elected president of the Ward Four Victoria Liberal Association at the annual meeting Wednesday. George Curran was elected vice-president; Mrs. Blair Reid, secretary; Mrs. I. Finlay, treasurer; and Mr. Curran and Joe Longpre to the central executive.

Ward executive includes Mrs. J. T. Jones, Madame E. A. Vautrin, S. E. Moisuk and Mrs. G. Trainor.

Cards 'Square' This Season

Christmas Messages Conventional

By EDNA BLAKELY (Canadian Press)

Christmas cards tend to be "real square" this year. Sick humor and the slim jim style are being replaced by the square card with the conventional message.

While cards are wider, Santa is slimmer. St. Nick—with a waistline—romps across cards selling well in every province.

Most popular in card stores across the country are packs of 25 cards of one design. D. R. Wallace, district manager for the Prairies of a large card manufacturing company, estimates that 50 per cent of total sales will be solid packs.

"The sender used to look at at card and say, 'It suits Aunt Sue or Uncle Ben.' Now the receiver gets a card and says, 'Isn't this just like good old Joe?'" Mr. Wallace says.

This reflects the change from 10 years ago when the sender matched cards to the personality of the receiver. Now cards reflect the sender's personality.

Winter scenes, popular everywhere, are especially popular along the west coast. At Vancouver, citizens can buy boxes of assorted Vancouver scenes. The snow scenes are used extensively for both personal and business cards at Edmonton. Personalized cards are in vogue on the Prairies this year.

Contemporary humor, popular in the East last year, has gained mild popularity in the West this year. Called studio, contemporary, sick or beat, the cards sell for 25 cents each. Sample greeting:

"Hope a very special friend has a very special Christmas ... and I hope yours is nice too."

Religious cards have wide appeal in the province of Quebec. One firm, which produces cards in French, turns out 50 per cent of its work with religious motifs.

Lion and Chihuahua Lie Down Together

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Leo the lion is having a g-r-r-eat time with his new-found chum — a chihuahua pup.

Maybe that's because Leo doesn't know he's a lion—yet. He's only a cub, weighing nine pounds, 12 ounces, which isn't much bigger than Pogo the chihuahua.

Both live at the Jim Yeargan residence here and seem to be hitting it off fine.

Quebec 'Pleased' By Grants Offer

OTTAWA (UPI) — The federal government yesterday studied Quebec Premier Paul Sauve's reply to the Ottawa offer to break the deadlock over the complicated university grants question.

Prime Minister John Diefenbaker released the letter from Sauve which asked for clarification of the federal government's offer. A delay was expected before any final decision was reached.

Diefenbaker said he would discuss Sauve's reply with his cabinet "at the earliest possible time."

The letter said the Quebec government was "greatly pleased" at Diefenbaker's attempt to settle the eight-year controversy which has frozen some $25,000,000 worth of federal grants intended for Quebec.

Race Hate Spans Border

TORONTO (CP)—Gordon Cavanaugh, 37, and his wife, Lynn, 23, United States visitors, pleaded guilty in court here Wednesday to a charge of causing a disturbance over the presence of Negroes in a restaurant. They were remanded.

Police, called to investigate a fight in the restaurant early Wednesday, said the accused were shouting degrading, abusive remarks at the Negroes.

Cavanaugh pleaded guilty, preferring to "pay a fine rather than sit in jail."

When Cavanaugh challenged the evidence, Magistrate J. L. Prentice ordered the plea struck out and remanded the pair on $200 bail to Dec. 22, when the arresting officer will be present.

Canada Gets Warning

OTTAWA (CP)—A warning that Canada must plan now for the pressure of growing populations on her resources was given Thursday by Resources Minister Alvin Hamilton to a meeting of the federal and provincial governments.

Canada stands to some degree where the United States was four or five decades ago, he said. And while few foresaw the pinch in which the U.S. now finds itself in some resource fields the same thing can happen here.

The meeting, a follow-up to one last year, ends today.

Air Cargo Just Misses Housewife

FAIRMONT, Minn. (AP)—The instrument cargo from a high altitude balloon parachuted into the backyard of a Fairmont residence Wednesday narrowly missing a woman hanging out her wash.

Mrs. Carl Wieseke said a lead-weighted aerial wire hanging from the three-foot square instrument package swept about an arms length from her, but missed the wash.

The balloon was launched early Wednesday at Sioux Falls, S.D., about 120 miles west of Fairmont. It was sent up to 40,000 feet for an air force study of infra-red radiation.

The instrument load landed in the yard of a home two doors away from the Wieseke residence. The parachute tangled in a nearby tree.

U.S. A-Horror Movie Premiered in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The Hollywood movie of Australian Nevil Shute's atomic horror novel On the Beach was pronounced a great success Thursday by the official Soviet news agency Tass.

That judgment was rendered after a preview arranged by the Russian ministry of culture and the organizational committee of the U.S.S.R. Cinematographers' Union.

Tass declared: "The film relates a story which never occurred and must never occur. This is a film about the horrors and suffering which an atomic war might bring in its wake."

The premiere was attended by the film's star, Gregory Peck.

The film, about the last dying persons on the earth after a nuclear war, was shown simultaneously in 17 capitals last night, but Moscow's premiere undoubtedly won honors as the most subdued.

The movie was unveiled in an auditorium in the Film Workers' Union club, for a strictly invited audience of 1,200 top Soviet officials, foreign diplomats and correspondents.

The Soviets are undecided about whether or not to buy the movie.

"The film is too pessimistic, too shocking and our people would not like it," a film union official said.

BERLIN (Reuters)—Stunned silence Thursday night greeted the premiere of the American movie On the Beach. Women filed out of the theatre with their eyes red with tears. Most of the men had drawn faces.

The idea is to lay the basis for future steps in wise harvesting of the renewable resources such as fisheries, forestry, water, soil and air.

Mr. Hamilton was delivering the opening statement to a two-day meeting of the steering committee which is planning for a national conservation conference to be held late next year or early in 1961.

Uncle Wins $500 Balm From Nephew

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twenty-two-year-old Manfred Illig has been ordered to pay his uncle $500 heart balm.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson assessed damages and costs against Illig in the divorce suit of Horst Elger, 30, of Vancouver. Illig is from Oliver, B.C.

Elger was awarded a decree dissolving his marriage in Winnipeg five years ago. Herma Elger, 25, of Oliver, and awarded custody of their child.

Don't Drink and Drive, Be Courteous and Help Victoria Win a Tea Cup

Appeals for safe driving were aimed at Victoria area drivers from two quarters yesterday.

With the festive season about to get into full swing, police issued an urgent warning for motorists not to drive while drinking.

"If you must drive, drink tea or coffee," an official said. "If you do drink alcohol, let someone who hasn't do the driving, or call a taxi."

At the same time the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced that, in conjunction with the Canada Tea Council, a special trophy is being put at stake to go to the community which has the best traffic safety record between Dec. 15 and Jan. 3.

Aim is to establish a safety record across the country during the holiday season.

"Winning this cup would reflect great credit on all of Greater Victoria," said Thomas Affleck, chairman of the Jaycee traffic safety committee.

"The important thing, however, is to try to win it," he said. "Use common sense in your driving—and your walking—in these three and all other weeks. Don't mix alcohol with gasoline. Keep within the speed limit. Give the other fellow his share of the road."

Police reminded drivers they may encounter a road check at any time during the festive season as traffic officers try to keep holiday driving safe.

Christmas Is for Adults Too

Not Only for Children

Of course "Christmas is for the children," Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral said yesterday—but it's not only for the children.

Dean Whitlow spoke at the Christmas luncheon of the Rotary Club, a merry occasion with "Rotary Anns" and other guests present, and took issue with this common statement about Christmas and one other, that Christ should be put back into Christmas.

Over-concentration on bunny-

rabbits around the crib and baby angels and all those sweet things, he said, could make Christmas seem to be for children only. But because of what happened on the first Christmas, more important than anything else, Christmas was for everyone. As for putting Christ back into Christmas, Dean Whitlow said, "I am not aware that He has ever left it. What we need to do is give ourselves back to Christ at Christmas."

RCAF Plans Big Program For Holiday

Three major Christmas season events will be held by 2455 Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron of the RCAF.

Festivities will start with a unit children's party at 2 p.m. Sunday. This will be followed Monday by the annual dinner for unit members at 7.30 p.m. also at the urban centre, 1212 Quadra.

A New Year's Eve dance will complete the schedule.

Blistering Report Gets Credit

The federal government's decision to intensify research into shore waters on all coasts of Canada was hailed here yesterday by the former head of the joint oceanographic committee.

Dr. F. H. Sanders, now director of the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, said the newly-established committee on the science of oceans in the long run will "prove a very good thing."

"It will provide better linkage with other international groups in this important field," said Dr. Sanders. "And it will also give us better co-ordination with our National Research Board in Ottawa."

IMMEDIATE EFFECT
Dr. Sanders said immediate effect of the formation of the new group on the work of the Pacific Naval Laboratory will be negligible for the reason that no primary oceanographic work is being done by scientists here.

He said all the Pacific oceanographic studies are at present being carried out by scientists at the federal biological station at Nanaimo.

SAME VESSELS
"Since we share the same vessels provided by the navy in carrying out our respective jobs," said Dr. Sanders, "anything that is good for them is indirectly good for us."

Dr. Sanders up to six months ago was chief of the government's joint committee on oceanography formed in 1946, which has been superseded by the new committee.

The latest move, according to Ottawa reports, reflects two things.

BLISTERING REPORT
One was a blistering report made by a Commons committee earlier this year on the state of government-run research into resources over recent years. The report belabored chronic shortages of men and money.

The other is Canada's growing concern with what lies under her wide-flung shore waters on all coasts, including the Arctic where Russian activity is far advanced.

$80,000 GRANTS
Canada's expanded oceanography program includes grants of $80,000 each to the universities of Dalhousie and British Columbia to assist them in training more oceanographers.

Another project is the $3,000,000 institute being built at Bedford Basin near Halifax. It will employ 300 scientists and operate a fleet of 10 oceanographic and hydrographic vessels.

A third major project is the Polar Continental Shelf survey which will start its long term work next spring off the central Arctic islands on the western shelf.

$9.86 for 500 Fund Kindness Counts All Year Round

By JIM TAYLOR

This is the story of a children's club that practises the spirit of Christmas on a year-round basis.

It's called the Kindness Club, and it was formed by nine little girls, six to 10, who work to make sure it lives up to its name. Last night, they presented The Daily Colonist with a jar containing $9.86 for the 500 Christmas Fund "because we want to help the poor people."

Children are always forming clubs that last only until the novelty has worn off. This one is different. It has been thriving since its formation in January, thanks to the spirit of the nine little girls behind it.

Each Tuesday after school, the nine meet in the rumpus room at 2120 Neil Street, home of nine-year-old Linda Nugent, the president. Members pay dues, anything from two cents to 25 cents and as Linda puts it "talk about how we can do good."

It isn't just idle talk. On June 27 the club held a fair in Linda's backyard. The parents co-operated with buns and weiners, and the girls sold candy, hot dogs, comic books and marbles. It is this money that is now in the 500 Fund coffers.

"Mummy was telling us about the fund, and we were looking for something good to do with our money, so we decided to give it to the poor people."

Window Smasher

Rock, Not Money Used by Shopper

A thief who did his "Christmas shopping" with a rock is believed by city police to be responsible for two window-smashing raids on downtown stores early yesterday.

At 2.05 a.m. patrol constables reported glass in the front door of Ellison Queale Radio Supply Ltd., 1205 Quadra, had been broken with a big rock. Investigation showed a twin-speaker record changer, valued at $104.95, had been taken from a display

Deliveries

Post Office Announces Schedule

No mail will be delivered by the post office on Christmas, Boxing Day or New Year's Day.

Normal holiday service will be provided for special delivery and the post office lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on all three days.

But wickets will be open only a half day, from 8 a.m. to noon on Boxing Day, and an evening collection will be made the same day from street letter boxes.

'Twinkie' Gone

Bulb Thief Busy

A Christmas tree bulb snatcher apparently struck at two homes within a three-block radius in Oak Bay last night.

W. E. Kenny, 2781 Heron, operations control engineer for the B.C. Power Commission, told police that 20 special "twinkie" lights valued at $5 which he had purchased in the United States, were taken from an ornamental lamp post in front of his home between 7 and 9 p.m.

LOWER BILL

The missing bulbs "will save on the light bill," the electrical engineer said.

About 18 large outdoor bulbs were taken about the same time from a tree in front of an apartment house at 2455 Beach Drive.

NOT UP A DAY

These bulbs hadn't been up a day, police were told by Roy Gill, one of three men who decorated the tree yesterday morning.

"I guess I'll put up some more," he said.

Sudbury Won't Get Home

Hopes of bringing the 20-man crew of the Sudbury II back to Victoria in time for New Year's festivities have been dashed by the tugboat's latest rescue mission.

A spokesman for Island Tug and Barge here said the Sudbury is plowing southwards through choppy seas to the assistance of three vessels drifting helplessly in mid-Pacific with 41 men aboard.

At last report Sudbury II was some 1,500 miles away from the stricken Dutch tug Elbe and two drifting baby aircraft carriers which she was towing.

50 Would See Craighdarroch 'Gay' Museum

A recently-formed society dedicated to transforming Craighdarroch Castle into a "gay '90s" museum when it is vacated by Victoria school board has so far enrolled 50 members and expects many more.

The society has been offered free storage space for articles of period furniture with which it hopes to refurbish the castle as an authentic display of 1890-1911 surroundings, James K. Nesbitt, president, disclosed yesterday.

He said some period furniture has already been donated to the Society for Preservation and Maintenance of Craighdarroch Castle but that much more is needed.

Until a city cartage and storage company offered free storage space for the articles the society had been unable to accept several offers.

Mr. Nesbitt said that a concerted effort to increase membership in the society will be launched early next year.

Ship to Have New Career

The former Great Lakes steamer David Barclay is at Ogden Point preparatory to starting a new career as a hog fuel barge for the Powell River Company, Wagner, Steine & Green Co., local ship dismantlers, will undertake the job of gutting the ship and stripping the superstructure to deck level.

In August, 1958, he was removed from his deputy minister job by Mr. Chant, but retained his position as chief architect until he was fired.

Likely running mates for Mr. Campbell would be former North Cowichan Reeve C. A. P. Murlison and M. L. Tyrwhitt Drake.

Mr. Campbell was fired from the civil service last May after 28 years in government service and Mr. Chant charged the firing was because of inefficiency.

At the start of the drive, Red Cross officials had asked for 500 pints to fill their 1959 quota.

"Response was very good," said Mrs. Ralph Thistle, blood donor panel secretary. "We were only 36 pints short."

Very Good Blood Clinic Brings in 354 Pints

A "very good clinic" at the Legislative Buildings yesterday netted 354 pints of blood for the Victoria Red Cross and boosted the total of the three-day drive to 864 pints.

At the start of the drive, Red Cross officials had asked for 500 pints to fill their 1959 quota.

"Response was very good," said Mrs. Ralph Thistle, blood donor panel secretary. "We were only 36 pints short."

St. John Unit Asks Bids On Building

Tenders were called yesterday for a new headquarters building for St. John Ambulance Brigade to be constructed on Pandora between Quadra and Vancouver.

The new two-storey building will be constructed of reinforced concrete.

An auditorium, general office, three classrooms, and a storage area will be included in the 48 by 72-foot structure.

Present Brigade headquarters are in rented premises at 1715 View.

CLIVE CAMPBELL

Against Chant

Campbell May Run For Tories

Victoria consulting architect Clive Campbell may seek the Victoria Progressive Conservative provincial nomination to run against Sacred Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, who fired him from his deputy minister of public works job.

"I am considering running. They have approached me and I consider it an honor," Mr. Campbell said last night. "But I am in no position at this time to make a definite decision," he added.

Likely running mates for Mr. Campbell would be former North Cowichan Reeve C. A. P. Murlison and M. L. Tyrwhitt Drake.

Mr. Campbell was fired from the civil service last May after 28 years in government service and Mr. Chant charged the firing was because of inefficiency.

At the start of the drive, Red Cross officials had asked for 500 pints to fill their 1959 quota.

"Response was very good," said Mrs. Ralph Thistle, blood donor panel secretary. "We were only 36 pints short."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My boy friend is in the service several hundred miles away. He writes often. His spelling and English are so poor no one but me could figure out what he means. I knew he was mentally slow but I didn't realize how bad it was until I saw it in writing.

In the presence of others he's made such glaring errors as "Isaac Walton's law of gravity," and the Mississippi Ocean. When he said he couldn't understand how the vice-president found time to write a daily column I learned he was confusing Richard Nixon with George Dixon.

I'm very fond of this fellow but I wonder if I could be happy with someone so far below my intellectual level. He's good-looking, sweet and wants to marry me. Frankly, I'm—ASHAMED-OF HIM.

Life Unbearable Later

If you're "Ashamed of Him" now, I promise after marriage you would find life unbearable. Marriages work out best between individuals who have a multiplicity of things in common. Minimally, this means education, home background and religious training. Additional schooling could help to improve his English and grammar but his general level of knowledge (as evidenced by the errors you pointed out) indicate that this fellow is unbelievably ignorant.

Dear Ann: My husband and I are only children. We have been married three years and have two little boys. Both sets

Independence Means More

Dear Ann: Money may not be everything but there's more than money involved here. Independence, and the freedom to make decisions based on what is best for YOU and your family is what is at stake.

Tells Biggest Lies

Dear Ann: Our 13-year-old has been causing us heartache. He's been caught smoking twice in the last six months. We've tried to reason with him but it doesn't work.

Another thing: he can look a person in the eye and tell the biggest lies you ever heard. We've never punished this boy severely because we don't believe in it. Do you think maybe he needs a good switch? Please suggest something. I'm beside myself.

—CONCERNED

Dear C: This boy needs more attention, more affection—and punishment that means something. Apparently the "talkings" are not effective.

Red Velvet Dresses Worn by Attendants

Red velvet dresses with full skirts and matching hats decorated with velvet bows were worn by the attendants at a wedding in Centennial United Church, recently.

At an evening ceremony, Roberta MacLoud, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton MacLoud, 3162 Harriet Road, exchanged vows with Mr. Robert Ivor Douglas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Douglas, 919 Sluggert Road.

The bride wore her grandmother's gold pendant, as something old. Her heavy brocade gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. A coronet of sequins and pearls held her veil.

Bouquet of the bride was made up of red rose buds and carnations and her attendants carried white chrysanthemums and white feathered carnations, entwined with ivy and red ribbon.

Maid of honor was Miss Margaret McMunagle. Mrs. Bernice Royan and Mrs. Marilyn Jameson, both sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. The bride's nephew, Ronald Jameson, acted as ring bearer, wearing navy velvet pants and white velvet shirt, carrying the ring on a white satin pillow.

Mr. Donald Douglas was best man. Mr. Stewart Jameson and Mr. Arnold Hamilton were ushers.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. MacLoud, the bride's aunt and uncle. Mr. MacLoud proposed her health.

The new Mrs. Douglas chose a wedge-neck blue two-piece dress, topped by a coral coat, with a white fur hat and a gardenia corsage, for her going-away outfit.

Mayfair Wedding in January

Lady Pamela Mountbatten and her fiancé, Mayfair interior decorator David Hicks, enjoy an evening out in London. Daughter of Earl Mountbatten, Lady Pamela will be married next month. The entire Royal Family has been invited to the ceremony and all except the Queen plan to attend.

Reducing Weight Harder for Women

By LIZ BINKS

It's three times harder for a woman to reduce than it is for a man.

This conclusion is the result of statistical work done at the Department of Household Science at the University of Toronto.

The department has an Obesity Clinic to study the relationship of weight to diet. Faculty Dean Barbara McLaren describes the average clinic patient as five feet four inches, weighing about 250 pounds—or more than 100 pounds over weight.

NO EXCUSES

"They always try to excuse their weight on grounds of heavy bone structure," she chuckled. "We soon jog them out of that!"

All patients undergo medical examinations at a hospital, take IQ tests to determine their intelligence, and are classified in the same psychological patterns as the general public.

"In other words, they've got no medical excuses—they just eat too much," Dr. McLaren chuckled.

In fact, the first problem is to get the women concerned enough about their weight to do something about it.

FATTER FRIENDS

"We find they don't respond to competition," she said. "They go on the theory that their best friends are fatter than they are."

"So our methods are discipline and education. They come each week for weighing and checking meal patterns and are instructed in nutrition and physiology."

Since most of the women are too fat to take exercise without straining their hearts, it is very difficult to keep tabs on their activities. The doctor decided on the pedometer to measure movements.

Each patient has to wear the small clock-like instrument on her hip to measure how far she walks during the day in her campaign to jog off the fat.

But the hardest job isn't getting the patient started—it's keeping her going. After losing 50 pounds, most patients lose interest.

"They feel so much better they just stop dieting," Dr. McLaren said with a shrug. "If we could strap a 60-pound sack of flour to them they would stick to their diets!"

The reason why men find it easier to diet is that they lose weight much more quickly and their diet plans don't require the same perseverance. A 3,500-calorie deficit is required to lose one pound. Men can develop this deficit much more readily than women on the same diet.

A man can lose a pound in two days—while it takes a woman six to lose the same amount.

"I have yet to see proof of the adage that fat people are always happy," challenged Dr. McLaren. "They're happy when they're losing weight."

Tips for Parents

Attitude on Money Passed to Children

By EDITH HENRY

Each partner brings certain assets to the founding of a new family. Among them can be a desirable attitude towards money.

Money can unfortunately be regarded by parents as something to hoard. It can be used as a measure of all things. The Lees only chose to know people who were wealthy. The Grants spoke of the "expensive" education they were giving their children. The possession of money can be looked upon as the culmination of success.

More wholesome attitudes see money as important, but not related to everything. It is the means by which we provide ourselves with food and shelter, as well as comfort and luxury.

It does not buy all things. The most precious are beyond price—the friendship of good neighbors, the affection of close friends.

Whatever attitude our own family has will be passed on to the next generation.

It will be absorbed from the small words and acts of daily living.

We should like to feel that when young Sally marries she will be ready to get along happily on the money available. Her time and thought she will not waste on contemplating what she could do and have if her supply was greater.

We should like to feel that our home life had been so full has learned to depend on other of interesting activities and things than money for fun shared pleasures that Sally and happiness.

Sews, Reads

Ninety Today

An energetic Victoria woman, Mrs. Florence Abbott, celebrates her 90th birthday today. She is fond of walking and shopping and spends her spare time reading and sewing embroidery.

Born in Ipswich, Suffolk, Eng. in 1869 Mrs. Abbott came to Canada in 1907 to live in Edmonton. In 1943 she arrived in Victoria and now lives in guest house, 3136 Quadra Street, run by Mrs. M. McRae, who will give a birthday dinner in Mrs. Abbott's honor.

Mrs. Florence Murdoch of Oregon, Mrs. Edith Carpenter of Victoria are her daughters and her son, Mr. Victor Abbott, lives in Edmonton.

LARGE FAMILY

Mrs. Abbott is the niece of the late Hon. R. H. (Harry) Pooley, Conservative member of parliament and one time attorney-general of B.C.

She is the head of a large family and has seven grandchildren, 11 great grandchildren, and six great-great grandchildren.

Mrs. Edith Carpenter will give a party to celebrate her mother's birthday, at her home, 130 Beechwood Avenue.

Turkey Sits On Lectern

No one sitting down for a succulent turkey dinner this Christmas would deny that there ought to be a monument to the man who discovered this bird.

But how many Canadians know that such a monument exists?

It is at Boynton, Yorkshire, in England, carved on the lectern of the local church.

The discoverer's name was William Strickland. He commanded a ship under Sebastian Cabot when that explorer anchored off South America in the 1530's.

Strickland commanded a foraging party which went ashore and bought semi-domesticated turkeys from the natives. He brought some back to Britain ninety years before the Pilgrim fathers landed at Plymouth, Mass. Most British turkeys to this day are descended from these imports.

In 1550, Strickland bought a manor at Boynton and applied for a coat of arms, and made his crest a turkey. The arms were carved on the lectern of the town church. There the turkey sits today, tall erect and throat out, ready to gobble.

Lingerie Gifts Bought at Ease

By CAREL KENDALL

Many men had a chance to linger over the lingerie in a shop on Fort Street last night. It was stag evening at Mae Meighen's shop. This was first inaugurated last year by a kind-hearted manager who appreciated the male plight when shopping for ladies' wear and to give men a chance to do their buying in secret.

The windows were covered and only small peepholes left to satisfy the curiosity of passers-by.

From 6 p.m. women shoppers were excluded and only men allowed through the heavily-draped door. As they entered a cup of coffee and cigarette were slipped quickly into their hands, to cover any embarrassment.

Sizes were the first problem. Some organized men brought out notebooks and thumbed through the pages.

They would ask in a clear voice for a size, and would know exactly what they wanted. Perhaps their wives had dropped big enough hints?

Others, more diffident, were asked pleasantly to describe the build of the lady in question, or which sales girl she resembled.

One old gentleman was very hazy. "She's heavier than I am," he said. "I know that."

WHITE POPULAR

Nighties, slips and negligees were gingerly fingered. Colors were considered. There didn't appear to be any favorite color but when in doubt they chose white. Minds made up, contented men marched out looking victorious, with gift-wrapped parcels under their arms.

BABY DOLLS

"Suddenly confronted by a tall man with a knowing look I was startled at his sly wink and jerk of the thumb. He said just two words, 'Baby dolls.'"

I led the way to a rack of pretty shorties. He raised an eyebrow. "Tell me, do they have anything underneath?" he asked. When we had found the answer to that he spent a happy half hour dallying among the frills with a smile wondering which to choose.

A customer in search of a peignoir looked unbelievably at the rows of nylon ones.

"Oh, no," he said, "she has something for the summer. I want something warmer."

A kind father marched in and announced that he had come on a mission for his son who lost his courage and fled.

SATISFIED

There was nothing to fear. The sales clerks were as attentive and diplomatic as any politicians.

The male customers had ample time to look around, and make up their minds at leisure.

Some came to look, to leer and to walk away. But whatever they came for there were certainly many satisfied customers last night.

What's Cooking?

Fragrant Ices Refresh Meal

By LOUISE MOORE

They say lightning never strikes in the same place twice—but it struck in double measure when two home-makers—miles apart—wrote and asked why we haven't included sherbets for desserts.

So naturally we go overboard in extending a very frosty column today.

FLAVORFUL

Sherbets are anything but a new discovery. The Persians favored the fragrant and flavorful ices as a refresher after gorging on their favorite meats. The sherbets usually were served from a huge bowl in a frigid state with champagne, wines or other liqueurs which gave them a lively sparkle. However, the simpler sherbets of today contain few ingredients—water, sugar and citrus-fruit juices, while beaten egg white and gelatin are used to keep the texture smooth and delicious. The sherbets are partially frozen then stirred once or twice while freezing.

The egg white is added unbeaten and the mixture beaten until smooth and fluffy. Refreeze and serve. Always chill the glasses before spooning in the sherbet. Serve just as an appetizer or dessert or serve it in a tall glass of a favorite beverage.

LEMON CREAM SHERBET

Thoroughly dissolve 1 cup sugar in 1 pint milk. Add grated rind of 1 lemon and ¼ cup of lemon juice. Stir while adding the lemon juice, turn into freezing tray and freeze until partially frozen or of mushy consistency. Beat whites of 2 eggs until stiff, gradually adding 2 tbsps. sugar. Whip 1 pint whipping cream until of a thick custard consistency and combine with the stiffly beaten egg whites. Add the frozen mixture and mix lightly. Return to freezing unit and freeze. Serve with a garnish of mint leaves. For smooth sherbet chill ingredients before mixing. Serves 6-8.

LEMON SHERBET

Make syrup of 1 cup warm water, 1 cup sugar, boiled 5 minutes. Add ½ cup white corn syrup and chill. Soften 2 tsp. gelatin in 2 tbsps. cold water then dissolve in the hot syrup. Cool and add 1 cup water and ¾ to 1 cup lemon juice. Place in freezing tray on bottom shelf of freezing compartment. Freeze until firm. Remove to chilled bowl, add 2 egg whites unbeaten and beat until light and fluffy. Return to freezing tray and freeze until firm—about 30 minutes. When firm serve with a garnish of fresh mint. Serves 8.

ORANGE SHERBET

Sprinkle 1 envelope plain gelatin on ¼ cup of orange juice in saucepan until softened. Place over very low heat or hot water and stir constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat, add 1 cup sugar and ¾ cups orange juice. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour into an 8-cup loaf pan or several freezing trays. Place in freezing compartment and freeze, stirring occasionally. Break up frozen mixture in chilled bowl. Add 1 unbeaten egg white and beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth. Return to trays. Freeze until firm. Makes about 2 quarts.

RASPBERRY SHERBET

Press through a sieve 1 quart box fresh raspberries. Add ¼ cup lemon juice. Put into saucepan 1½ cups water and 1 cup sugar. Boil about 10 minutes. Soak 2 tsp. gelatin in 2 tbsps. cold water. Dissolve in the hot syrup. Cool and add the sieved raspberries. Chill, then fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and a dash of salt. Place in freezing tray in refrigerator and freeze until a thick mush. About 50 minutes. Turn into a chilled bowl and whip with a wire whisk until fluffy. Lightly fold in 2 stiffly beaten egg whites to which a dash of salt has been added. Freeze until firm in refrigerator trays.

MINT SHERBET

Squeeze juice from 2 oranges and 6 lemons and strain. Add grated rind of 1 lemon. Bring 2 cups water and 2 cups sugar to a boil, then pour over 1 cup chopped mint leaves. Let stand 1 hour. Strain and add the liquid to fruit juices. Add a few drops green food coloring. Cool and freeze to a mushy consistency. Remove to bowl. Add 1 unbeaten egg white and beat with beater until smooth and fluffy. Return to trays and freeze until solid.

Yule Log Dessert

University Club Christmas Party

Holly and Christmas candles decorated the tables while members of the University Women's Club of Victoria enjoyed a Yule-log dessert at their annual Christmas party held recently at 904 Government Street.

Christmas carols played softly in the background while dessert and coffee was served, followed by a lively program planned by Mrs. J. L. Andrews.

Mrs. Dorothy White and

Mrs. Maunsell of the Dickens' Fellowship entertained the members with readings from Dickens. Miss Echo Lidster led the group in carol singing accompanied by Mrs. T. W. A. Gray.

Mrs. H. R. Turner presided over a brief business meeting, and it was decided that a donation of $50 would be made to the World Refugee Fund of the Canadian Federation of University Women.

Mrs. T. G. Hatcher was in charge of table decorations and refreshments assisted by Mrs. C. J. Calder, Mrs. W. G. Dempsey, Mrs. J. E. N. Flanagan, Mrs. G. Griffiths, Miss M. Johnston, Mrs. F. A. Lee, Mrs. A. E. Leonard, Miss A. Lucas, Mrs. W. A. Porter, and Mrs. G. W. B. Taylor.

Earl Beatty, 54, and his 18-year-old bride, former debutante Diane Blundell, arrived in New York from London aboard the Queen Mary. It's the fourth marriage for Lord Beatty. Diane's divorced parents were bitterly opposed to the union. Only when it was proved that the bride had been legally adopted by her grandparents were the father's protests stilled.

Mrs. Holmes Heads Group

GANGES—Mrs. G. Holmes presided and, with Archdeacon Holmes, took the devotional period at the annual meeting of the Salt Spring Island Woman's Auxiliary, held recently in the Parish Hall following a pot-luck lunch.

Mrs. Holmes was re-elected president. Other officers are: First vice-president, Mrs. E. Worthington; second vice-president, Mrs. A. W. Barber; secretary, Mrs. W. M. Palmer; treasurer, Mrs. Harold Price; dorcas, Mrs. H. Ashby; sewing, Mrs. V. L. Jackson and Mrs. Barber; ECAD, Mrs. J. Surtees; united thank-offering, Mrs. W. Eagles; Living Message, Mrs. W. Norton; prayer partner and educational secretary, Mrs. F. H. Baker; tea convener, Mrs. S. P. Beech.

Hospital WA Gives Party

Patients of the Veterans' Hospital were invited to a party arranged by the WA recently in the pavilion and the medical ward. Mrs. G. F. Homer welcomed the guests and Santa Claus, otherwise known as Mr. H. F. Jarvis, presented them with gifts from a large Christmas tree.

Mr. Al Smith played the piano for community singing. Miss B. Warren entertained with an accordion and Miss R. Stofor was an acrobat.

Mrs. G. M. Talbot convoked the party and Mr. T. Gray was chairman for the evening.

IODE Hamper Yule Present

Esquimalt Chapter IODE held a Christmas party recently at the home of Mrs. A. G. Fulmer, Old Esquimalt Road.

The chapter will send a hamper to a needy Victoria family and candy to the adopted school at Kyuquot, B.C. An IODE calendar will be sent to all Esquimalt schools.

A sherry party will be held at the home of Cmdr. and Mrs. A. C. Wurtele, Plaskett Place, Esquimalt, Jan. 9 from 7.30 p.m. to 10 p.m.

IODE GATHERS

Sir Matthew Baillie Begbie Chapter IODE will hold the Christmas party at the home of the regent, Mrs. Hilda Parizeau, 935 Richmond Road, on Tuesday, Dec. 22 at 2.30 to 5 p.m.

Clubs, Societies

New Member Welcomed

Poinsettias, holly and Christmas greenery decorated the home of Mrs. A. Mills, Fairfield Road, where members of the Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, held their recent meeting.

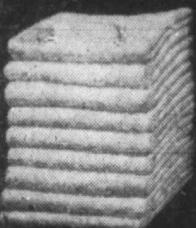

Mrs. A. McDougall was welcomed as a new member. Members brought cans and cookies to pack hampers for the retarded children. The sum of $10 was voted to the Saanich Christmas fund and $10 for a needy local family. Books, films and gifts have been sent to two adopted schools at Sidney and Saturna Island.

WBA PARTY

The Women's Benefit Association Review No. 1 will meet in the Orange Hall, Monday, Dec. 21, at 7.30 p.m. A Christmas party and exchange of gifts will follow.

NATO Plan

Closer 'Mesh' Agreed

Disarmament Gets Priority

PARIS (UPI) — The NATO foreign ministers yesterday adopted U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's 10-year plan for closer meshing of the alliance's political, military, economic, and scientific policies.

The ministers also worked out a draft summit agenda that placed disarmament at the top of the list for the talks with the Soviets. They agreed to shelve the American-French dispute over integrated air defence until another meeting next March.

TIGHTER BONDS

In a communique issued at the close of the alliance's annual ministerial meeting, the 15-member nations:

- Ordered the permanent council to fill in the details of Herter's plan to tighten the bonds of the alliance in the next decade.

- Said they hope east-west disarmament agreement could be reached, but warned that until then the NATO nations must build up their strength.

- Warned that Soviet military might continued to grow but NATO was falling behind in its own master defence plan.

BIG FOUR DUE

The summit decisions were in the form of a statement to the four western heads of government who will arrive here today for their weekend meeting. President Eisenhower, French President Charles de Gaulle, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will line up their position in preparation for talks with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

U.S. Plane Forced To Land

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States expressed "concern" to the Dominican Republic yesterday for forcing down an American plane with bursts of machine gun fire and demanded a full explanation.

The state department said it had instructed U.S. ambassador Joseph C. Farland to act in the incident, which occurred Tuesday. The U.S. plane, a C-47 carrying a military attaché, was on a routine flight from the Dominican Republic to neighboring Haiti.

Now at the Bay—young people

their own
ACCOUNTS

A new credit plan at the BAY, developed to meet the needs of active, intelligent young people who, though not yet permanently employed, want to manage their own incomes and allowances. This plan is especially for students from 16 to 20 years of age, in high school, vocational school or university. It is designed to help them learn to manage a greater part of their own affairs . . . under a controlled, intelligent credit system approved by their parents.

Why a Special Account for Young People?

An ever-increasing number of young people use credit wisely; and the rising generation of our youth now take credit buying for granted. They have the use of the family charge account and even budget accounts sanctioned by their parents. We feel that most people agree that our young people should learn early the use and value of a good personal credit rating. Many young people work part time, weekends and summers. Many have allowances; it is natural that they should want some independence in the way their money is spent. The BAY'S "Career Account" offers a systematic means of keeping track of purchases.

Here's How It Works!

- Available to responsible young men and women, 16 to 20 years of age, who have not started permanent employment but who have some income or allowance of their own.
- The maximum amount of credit allowed at any given time will be $30.00.
- The minimum monthly payment is $2.00, repayment period not to exceed six months, and the account can be used as often as required so long as the balance owed does not exceed $30.00.
- A small carrying charge is added to each monthly statement, which will be cancelled if total account is paid within 90 days.
- Smart identification cards will be provided and must be presented with every purchase on the "Career Account."

If you have a young son or daughter that you consider to be responsible and would like to have him or her learn to enjoy the uses of credit, the "Career Account" way—then Bring or send your teen-ager to see the Credit Department, 4th floor, and we will explain it to you in detail.

GEORGE MURDOCH

Re-Elected

Runaway victor in voting for reeveship of Oak Bay, incumbent George Murdoch called the vote of confidence "something money can't buy." (See story, Page 7.)

ALBERNI MAYOR LOSES TO MABEL ANDERSON

Angry Bennett Says:

Wenner-Gren Not Exempt

The new B.C. Energy Board has full authority to initiate on its own a study of the Peace River power development proposals, Premier Bennett said yesterday.

"Of course the energy board will deal with long-term integration of the Peace River and the Columbia, and all other developments," the angered premier said. The premier ridiculed demands for his resignation and the resignation of the full energy board, made by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Wednesday when it was learned terms of reference of the new board did not specifically include the Peace River.

SHOULD KNOW

"It just shows how unconstitutional the leader of the opposition is. If he were any student of constitutional matter, he would know the government had no alternative but to allow the application to be processed in the usual legal manner, in accordance with the acts and legislation of this province," the premier said.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

"The government is not to have the application of the Peace River Power Development Co. processed by the legal laws of the province," he said. "And it would be unconstitutional if it were done any other way."

STORM STARTED

A political storm was started when terms of reference of the new board did not include a specific study of the controversial Wenner-Gren Peace River power development proposals, a ruling on which must be made by March 31.

The terms:

- To undertake broad long-term studies in the uses of coal, petroleum, natural gas, hydro-electricity and, as future needs dictate, atomic energy; and

• To study specific matters referred to it by the government.*NORMAL MANNER

An explanatory note included in the premier's explanation of the terms of reference said: "Referring to the pending application by the Peace River Power Development Co. Ltd. to proceed with its hydro-electric project on the Peace, Premier Bennett said this will be handled in a normal manner in accordance with requirements of the Water Act and general legislation, and that should any unusual problems occur, these will be referred to the energy board for study."

DIFFERENT LIGHT

But Opposition Leader Robert Strachan saw the premier's newest version in a different light.

"His statement proves the energy board is simply a window dressing, with which he hoped to mislead the people of the province."

"His statement that the Peace River must be handled under various acts of the legislature under control of the premier and his cabinet, proves not only Wenner-Gren, but every other application for power resources can only be granted under the direction of the premier, no matter what the energy board may recommend," he said.

MAYOR ALSBURY

Three Levels Outdated

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Tom Alsbury charged Thursday the provincial government is remaining debt-free at the expense of the municipal governments.

"The government is discriminating against the local government," he told a Kiwanis luncheon. "It is not paying for its share of public services, especially education."

The mayor said the provincial government should pay at least 60 per cent of education costs instead of the 30 per cent it now pays.

He called the present three-level system of government outdated and said there should be a complete review of the system.

A. Y. KAZNACHEYEV
... regime retreatingSees Hope*Russian Turncoat Speaks

NEW YORK (AP) — A Soviet diplomat who recently defected to the United States said Thursday that processes now at work in Russia "will inevitably lead to a democratic system."

Alexander Y. Kaznacheyev, in his first public statement since he was whisked out of Rangoon, Burma, last June, said the Communist regime is being forced to retreat from absolute dictatorship.

"Each step in the regime's retreat," he said, "is a step forward in the eventual burial of the Communist regime."

He told the Overseas Press Club that Soviet people for the first time are getting a taste of freedom, and this makes them insistent on more of it.

Mayor Jordon Easy Winner

Biggest upset in municipal elections on Vancouver Island yesterday came in Alberni, where newcomer Mrs. Mabel Susan Anderson narrowly defeated Mayor Jack Luckhurst, who was seeking his third term.

Mrs. Anderson polled 587 votes to 533 for Mr. Luckhurst. A resident of the city for 30 years, Mrs. Anderson is secretary of the Alberni Ratepayers' Association.

The contest brought out a record vote for the city with 1,141 out of 1,845 eligible voters taking part. The vote was steady all day.

LOSER PLEASED

Ex-mayor Luckhurst said, following his defeat, he was pleased to see so many voters casting ballots.

"We have seen democracy at work today," he said, and added, "... and you can't always win."

In the election of three aldermen for council, incumbents Charles Blair and Russell Foxcroft were re-elected but challenger George Dunbar narrowly defeated Ald. George McRae for the third seat.

FOXGROFT LEADS

Ald. Foxcroft polled 515 votes; Ald. Blair, 491; and Ald. Dunbar, 488. Other figures: McRae, 478; W. Terrence Neale, 420; Laurence Stickley, 332; Mrs. Bernice Jones, 329.

The $600,000 sewerage system bylaw was soundly defeated, pulling only 373 votes in favor of 724 against.

SMALLER TURNOUT

Competition in Port Alberni did not draw as much interest among voters as in Alberni. Only about 50 per cent of eligible voters—2,129 out of 4,262—went to the polls.

Mayor Loran Jordon soundly defeated challenger Gustav Frigstad, 1,475 votes to 571.

TWO INCUMBENTS

In the election of three aldermen, two incumbents, Douglas Mallory and Fred Weaver, were re-elected but Norman Odgers, the third incumbent, was defeated. Newcomer elected in his place was Earle Bowen, who topped the poll with 1,064 votes.

Other figures: Mallory, 1,050; Weaver, 860; George Folkard, 788; Odgers, 704; George McKnight, 617; Alex Gilfillan, 514.

COURTENAY

The three incumbent aldermen at Courtenay — Myrtle Vickburg, John Larson and Dr. Bruce Gordon were re-elected, defeating a challenger, Reginald Sivers.

Votes were Vickburg, 439; Gordon, 436; Larson, 412, and Sivers, 173. Only 531 voters out of 1,498 eligible cast ballots.

COMOX VOTING

At Comox there was no election for the village commission—chairman Ronald Ellis and commissioners William Longland and Glen Burchell, incumbents, were re-elected by acclamation Dec. 7.

Mrs. Veronica Parker, chairman of school district 71 board of trustees was defeated by Gordon Wagner who polled 71 votes to her 40.

VOTING LIGHT

Voting was light in Comox with only 111 out of 604 eligible voters casting ballots.

By noon, four hours after polls opened only 17 ballots had been cast—several of these by voters who went to the municipal hall to pay bills and had to be reminded about the election.

FIRST SINCE '54

Cumberland had its first election since 1954 and almost 80 per cent of the eligible voters, took part.

Leland Watson, 175 votes, and W. Newman, 151, were elected to the village commission, defeating George Apps, 139, Jack Shilton, 98, and R. C. McKellar, 53.

QUALICUM BEACH

Voting was light at Qualicum Beach where 245 of 626 voters cast ballots to elect two members to the village commission.

William Mackay was re-elected with 188 votes along with Charles Darkis who polled 154. Duncan McIntyre Fraser, with 111 votes, was defeated.

Commission chairman Donald Beaton was returned to office by acclamation on nomination day, Dec. 7. School trustee E. J. Parker was also elected by acclamation.

LADYSMITH

Voting in Ladysmith was stronger than expected, election officials said last night.

Churchill W. Bernard, with 278 votes and W. J. Sanderson with 293 were elected to the village commission, defeating Allan Carey who polled 178.

A total of 749 electors cast ballots out of 976 eligible voters.

CAMPBELL RIVER

Challenger Robert Jamieson defeated village commission chairman J. D. Bundy by nine votes in Campbell River. Mr. Jamieson polled 469 votes to Mr. Bundy's 460.

Another upset came in the election of two village commissioners when newcomer William Hogg defeated incumbent Barney Box.

VOTE TOTALS

Commissioner Jack Lee was re-elected and topped the poll with 571 votes. Mr. Hogg polled 374; Mr. Box, 321; Mrs. June Bootle, 310, and Harry Eastwood, 195.

A third upset came in the election of school trustees when Joe Iaci, school board chairman for 9½ years, was soundly defeated by Mrs. Ann Jackson, a book store owner.

Mrs. Jackson tied with the other retiring trustee, Cyril Hague, each polling 508 votes and taking the two seats open. Mr. Iaci drew 407 votes and Frank Douglas, 404.

LAKE COWICHAN

Two new commissioners were elected to the village council at Lake Cowichan during one of the busiest elections in years.

They are Walden C. Jubenville, who led the polls with 316 votes, and Gerald K. Cessford, with 294. A. L. Trace, who has served one term, trailed with 261 votes and lost his seat.

TURNOUT GOOD

Returning officer W. A. Chappell was amazed at the turnout, "considering there were no bylaws or a contest for chairman."

There were 537 ballots cast of an eligible 876, making a 60 per cent turnout.

TOFINO RESULTS

At Tofino James Olsen and Walter Guppy were elected to two-year terms as commissioners for the village, defeating Murray Summers, the third candidate.

Mr. Olsen topped the poll with 99 votes. Mr. Guppy polled 68 and Mr. Summers, 30.

Bylaw to authorize the borrowing of $18,000 for water works construction was solidly approved by the voters with 64 votes in favor and only three against.

The 197 voters who took part in the election represent 75 per cent of the eligible voters.

NO ELECTIONS

In five municipal areas up Island there was no need to hold an election yesterday—Alert Bay, Duncan, Nanaimo, Parksville and Ucluelet.

At these centres all candidates were elected by acclamation when nominations closed Dec. 7 but at Parksville and Ucluelet two vacancies remain unfilled because nobody was nominated to fill the positions.

PAKESVILLE

Parksville village commission is without a chairman. Appointment of a new chairman is the first business which will face the commission next year.

UCLUELET

At Ucluelet there is still a vacancy on the school board. Two trustees, Joseph F. Webb and George Brennan were elected by acclamation.

Duncan Holiday Cheer Fund Deluged With Food from High School Students

DUNCAN — The Christmas cheer fund office was deluged under cases of food yesterday — donated by Cowichan junior-senior high school students. And the 950 students who donated 1,625 tins—filling 20 large boxes—were praised for their generosity in donating to the school's Junior Red Cross drive.

Students gave an average of 1.5 tins each, increasing the results of the drive by 200 per cent over the last two years. Division 18 took top prize when 30 students donated 277 tins.

"Their spirit of generosity shows how the whole school feels," said Red Cross president James Carlson. He will present the division with its prizes, a box of oranges now and a plaque that has yet to be made but will be given on awards day next spring.

Second prize will go to division 11. The 25 students in the class gave 121 tins. There was a tie between divisions 1 and 13 which donated 68 articles each.

Food, toys and money can still be donated for the cheer fund at the Colonist office, 30 Kenneth, or at the fund office on Kenneth near Jubilee.

Six Years Voucher Thief Jailed

PORT ALBERNI—John Humphries Benton, who beat another man to steal a $17 social welfare voucher, was sentenced Wednesday to six years in the penitentiary.

He at first entered a plea of not-guilty to theft with violence and elected trial by judge and jury, but later changed his plea to guilty and was sentenced by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod.

Victim of the attack, David Henry Thomas, was reported to be in hospital with a serious eye injury.

Alberni No Deal Judge Decides

VANCOUVER—Mr. Justice David Verchere decided in B.C. Supreme Court Wednesday there was no business partnership between Mrs. Jean Gordon, an Alberni cook, and Sanford John McSweeney, a Parksville garage operator.

He dismissed a suit by Mrs. Gordon for a share of four years of profit in an Alberni motel.

Mrs. Gordon claimed an arrangement existed whereby she would run the motel's coffee shop and McSweeney the garage, McSweeney denied any business arrangement.

Giant Carol Concert Slated for Nanaimo

Indian Bands' 'Arms' Can't Be Twisted

DUNCAN—The Indian department has no way of "twisting the arm" of band councils.

The Indians own their lands, and their councils administer and sell the land as they see fit, Indian agent F. A. Clark told the board of School District 65 (Cowichan) last night.

He had been asked to attend the meeting after the Westholme band council refused to sell them land to expand the public school playground.

Car to Prowl Nanaimo Streets

NANAIMO—It could be embarrassing, but Jaycees feel their new Christmas traffic safety campaign will prove effective.

If a driver in the downtown area "goofs" Saturday, or on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, he will be told of his mistake over a loudspeaker.

The loud speaker will be on a Jaycee "prowl" car.

Navy Saves 15 Sailors

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A U.S. Navy ship Thursday rescued 15 seamen who abandoned their sinking freighter in the Pacific.

The U.S.S. Watchman, a navy picket boat, found two lifeboats after hours of searching. All crew were rescued and there were no injuries.

The coast guard here said it was presumed that the freighter Guam Pioneer, laden with scrap iron, had gone down.

Cash Added To Awards

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Council will add a cash prize of $1,000 each to the governor-general's awards for literature this year, it was announced yesterday. Until now, no money accompanied the awards.

Duncan Circulation Of Liquor Very Poor

DUNCAN—Chain letters for 26-ounce bottles of liquor are circulating here, at Chemainus and at Lake Cowichan—but it appears the circulation is poor.

Top man stands to win 64 bottles, but the most won by one person here so far is 14.

Some members, on the lower rungs, have contributed their bottle as long as three days ago without receiving any in return.

Duncan Plays Seen by 1,000

DUNCAN—About 1,000 persons were entertained this week by 550 elementary school students here, who presented six Christmas plays.

The students were from Duncan, Zenith, York Road and Old Somenos elementary schools.

Jaycees Back Radio Station

DUNCAN—Jaycees have given their unanimous approval to the establishment of a radio station here headed by Mayor Jack Dobson.

Members of the club who run businesses also indicated they would be in favor of using it as an advertising medium, said Horst Nowrath, Jaycee president, yesterday.

The matter came up at a recent meeting after a letter was received asking for support. It was signed by the mayor as president. Proposed name of the company is Cowichan and Gulf Island Broadcasting System Ltd.

Mayor Dobson said no date could be given when the "community station" will be able to go on the air.

Yesterday he said necessary funds have been raised, the engineering survey completed and technical and financial briefs sent to the board of broadcast governors.

The proposed company's application for a broadcasting licence will likely come up before the broadcast governors in Vancouver, where they start sittings Jan. 18.

The Jaycees' decision was the first of about 10 clubs who have been sent letters asking for their support.

Gets Off with Warning Boy Crashes Father's Car

DUNCAN—A 16-year-old Victoria High School student who had his driving licence for only a week before crashing his father's Cadillac, was charged with careless driving yesterday.

He pleaded not guilty, and got off with a warning after juvenile court heard conflicting evidence about speed when the car crashed off the Trans-Canada Highway.

Judge A. C. Sutton said the boy should be careful and that a car can be a "man-killing" machine.

Don't Drink and Drive, Be Courteous and Help Victoria Win a Tea Cup

Appeals for safe driving were aimed at Victoria area drivers from two quarters yesterday.

With the festive season about to get into full swing, police issued an urgent warning for motorists not to drink while driving.

"If you must drive, drink tea or coffee," an official said. "If you do drink alcohol, let someone who hasn't do the driving, or call a taxi."

At the same time the Junior Chamber of Commerce announced that, in conjunction with the Canada Tea Council, a special trophy is being put at stake to go to the community which has the best traffic safety record between Dec. 15 and Jan. 3.

Aim is to establish a safety record across the country during the holiday season.

"Winning this cup would reflect great credit on all of Greater Victoria," said Thomas Affleck, chairman of the Jaycee traffic safety committee. "The important thing, however, is to try to win it," he said. "Use common sense in your driving—and your walking—in these three and all other weeks. Don't mix alcohol with gasoline. Keep within the speed limit. Give the other fellow his share of the road."

Christmas Is for Adults Too

Not Only for Children

Of course "Christmas is for the children," Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral said yesterday—but it's not only for the children.

Dean Whitlow spoke at the Christmas luncheon of the Rotary Club, a merry occasion with "Rotary Anns" and other guests present, and took issue with this common statement about Christmas and one other, that Christ should be put back into Christmas.

Over-concentration on bunny

rabbits around the crib and baby angels and all those sweet things, he said, could make Christmas seem to be for children only. But because of what happened on the first Christmas, "more important than anything else, Christmas was for everyone. As for putting Christ back into Christmas, Dean Whitlow said, "I am not aware that He has ever left it. What we need to do is give ourselves back to Christ at Christmas."

Three Events

RCAF Plans Big Program For Holiday

Three major Christmas season events will be held by 2455 Alcraft Control and Warning Squadron of the RCAF.

Festivities will start with a unit children's party at 2 p.m. Sunday. This will be followed Monday by the annual dinner for unit members at 7:30 p.m. also at the urban centre, 1212 Quadra.

A New Year's Eve dance will complete the schedule.

The federal government's decision to intensify research into shore waters on all coasts of Canada was hailed here yesterday by the former head of the joint oceanographic committee.

Dr. F. H. Sanders, now director of the Pacific Naval Laboratory, Esquimalt, said the newly-established committee on the science of oceans in the long run will "prove a very good thing."

"It will provide better linkage with other international groups in this important field," said Dr. Sanders. "And it will also give us better co-ordination with our National Research Board in Ottawa."

Dr. Sanders said immediate effect of the formation of the new group on the work of the Pacific Naval Laboratory will be negligible for the reason that no primary oceanographic work is being done by scientists here.

He said all the Pacific oceanographic studies are at present being carried out by scientists at the federal biological station at Nanaimo.

SAME VESSELS
"Since we share the same vessels provided by the navy in carrying out our respective jobs," said Dr. Sanders, "anything that is good for them is indirectly good for us."

Dr. Sanders up to six months ago was chief of the government's joint committee on oceanography formed in 1946, which has been superseded by the new committee.

The latest move, according to Ottawa reports, reflects two things.

BLISTERING REPORT
One was a blistering report made by a Commons committee earlier this year on the state of government-run research into resources over recent years. The report belabored chronic shortages of men and money.

The other is Canada's growing concern with what lies under her wide-flung shore waters on all coasts, including the Arctic where Russian activity is far advanced.

$80,000 GRANTS
Canada's expanded oceanography program includes grants of $80,000 each to the universities of Dalhousie and British Columbia to assist them in training more oceanographers.

Another project is the $3,000,000 institute being built at Bedford Basin near Halifax. It will employ 300 scientists and operate a fleet of 10 oceanographic and hydrographic vessels.

A third major project is the Polar Continental Shelf survey which will start its long term work next spring off the central Arctic islands on the western shelf.

It's called The Kindness Club, and the members proved it isn't an empty title last night as they donated $9.86 to The Daily Colonist 500 Christmas Fund. ### $9.86 for 500 Fund

Kindness Counts All Year Round

By JIM TAYLOR

This is the story of a children's club that practises the spirit of Christmas on a year-round basis.

It's called The Kindness Club, and it was formed by nine little girls, six to 10, who work to make sure it lives up to its name. Last night, they presented The Daily Colonist with a jar containing $9.86 for the 500 Christmas Fund "because we want to help the poor people."

Children are always forming clubs that last only until the novelty has worn off. This one is different. It has been thriving since its formation in January, thanks to the spirit of the nine little girls behind it.

Each Tuesday after school, the nine meet in the rumpus room at 2120 Neil Street, home of nine-year-old Linda Nugent, the president. Members pay dues, anything from two cents to 25 cents and as Linda puts it "talk about how we can do good."

It isn't just idle talk. On June 27 the club held a fair in Linda's backyard. The parents co-operated with buns and weiners, and the girls sold candy, hot dogs, comic books and marbles. It is this money that is now in the 500 Fund coffers.

"Mummy was telling us about the fund, and we were looking for something good to do with our money," so we decided to give it to the poor people."

Window Smasher

Rock, Not Money Used by Shopper

A thief who did his "Christmas shopping" with a rock is believed by city police to be responsible for two window-smashing raids on downtown stores early yesterday.

At 2:05 a.m. patrol constables reported glass in the front door of Ellison Queale Radio Supply Ltd., 1205 Quadra, had been broken with a big rock. Investigation showed a twin-speaker record changer, valued at $104.95, had been taken from a display

Deliveries

Post Office Announces Schedule

No mail will be delivered by the post office on Christmas, Boxing Day or New Year's Day.

Normal holiday service will be provided for special delivery and the post office lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on all three days.

But wickets will be open only a half day, from 8 a.m. to noon on Boxing Day, and an evening collection will be made the same day from street letter boxes.

'Twinkle' Gone

Bulb Thief Busy

A Christmas tree bulb snatcher apparently struck at two homes within a three-block radius in Oak Bay last night.

W. E. Kenny, 2781 Heron, operations control engineer for the B.C. Power Commission, told police that 20 special "twinkle" lights valued at $5 which he had purchased in the United States, were taken from an ornamental lamp post in front of his home between 7 and 9 p.m.

LOWER BILL

The missing bulbs "will save on the light bill," the electrical engineer said.

About 18 large outdoor bulbs were taken about the same time from a tree in front of an apartment house at 2455 Beach Drive.

NOT UP A DAY

These bulbs hadn't been up a day, police were told by Roy Gill, one of three men who decorated the tree yesterday morning.

"I guess I'll put up some more," he said.

Sudbury Won't Get Home

Hopes of bringing the 20-man crew of the Sudbury II back to Victoria in time for New Year's festivities have been dashed by the tugboat's latest ocean rescue mission.

A spokesman for Island Tug and Barge here said the Sudbury is plowing southwards through choppy seas to the assistance of three vessels drifting helplessly in mid-Pacific with 41 men aboard.

At last report Sudbury II was some 1,500 miles away from the stricken Dutch tug Elbe and two drifting baby aircraft carriers which she was towing.

Christmas Hampers Set For Needy Nanaimo Homes

Other News Of Island On Page 9

NANAIMO—Christmas cheer hampers will be delivered to needy homes Tuesday and Wednesday, Capt. Charles Smith of the Salvation Army announced yesterday.

The job of sorting the goods and toys, and of distributing the 200 or more hampers, will begin tonight.

More than 3,000 toys which have been repaired by Brannan Lake Industrial School boys will be on view to the public Saturday afternoon at the Salvation Army Citadel.

PARKSVILLE—The first job for Parksville's new council in 1960 will be to appoint a chairman—no nominations were received for this position on nomination day.

The present chairman, A. J. Lock, is unable to run for office again for health reasons and if the council is unable to find someone to serve as chairman the matter will be referred to the lieutenant-governor of British Columbia.

This is the first time such a situation has arisen here. The council now stands at four with Arthur E. Briggs, re-elected and Charles R. Cassford elected, both by acclamation for two-year terms.

ALBERNI—Joseph Alexander Stark walked away uninjured when his late-model car was demolished in an accident recently on Highway 4.

Police said the car rolled over in a ditch on the right-hand side of the road as Stark was driving into Port Alberni near the Rogers Creek fill.

DUNCAN—The Shop-Easy store here is still issuing bonus cards in the company's promotion scheme, manager Harry Neil said last night.

Two other stores here which were visited by police Wednesday closed down giveaway schemes after police said they were not legal.

PORT ALBERNI—Plans of Alberni Valley Swim Club for a series of water safety classes include films on general safety, artificial respiration, holds and releases.

A member of the executive said it also hoped to have members of Port Alberni's volunteer fire department demonstrate the use of the resuscitator, and to have lectures from local skindivers. A doctor will be asked to lecture on the theory of artificial respiration.

On completion of the course, with classes to be held one night a week for eight weeks, pupils will receive official Red Cross certificates.

Several trips to Victoria for practical drill are also planned by the swim club.

There will be no fee for the course but a silver collection will be made to cover expenses. Registration for membership in the club is open until Dec. 31.

LAKE COWICHAN—Two East Indians have been fined $50 each here by Magistrate C. L. Anderson for drinking in a public place.

Fined were Mukhtar Singh Sidhu and Balwant Singh Blin.

LADYSMITH—The children of St. Mary's Roman Catholic School here have begun carol singing around the town. This year they are carrying song sheets and are inviting residents to choose their favorite. Proceeds go to help swell the city welfare fund.

DUNCAN—Woodsmen, spare that tree—unless you have permission.

Non-commercial Christmas tree cutting on land without the owner's consent could land the axe-wielder in court.

Permission must also be obtained by persons wanting to get trees in the old-fashioned method from municipal land.

ALBERNI—Development of Williamson Park will be a major item of the "old town's" winter works program.

At a council meeting this week it was agreed to apply for federal and provincial winter employment incentive grants for the project. Funds remaining in the parks budget will be used to help finance the development of the park in the new subdivision at the east end of the city.

DUNCAN—A. D. Taylor has been elected president of the Maple Bay Ratepayers' Association.

Other executive members are Robert Swales, secretary, and George Watson and C. J. Wilson, directors.

PORT ALBERNI—The Knights of Columbus will again erect a Nativity scene in the downtown area of Port Alberni.

A request for permission to erect the scene was granted by council this week and the letter from Arthur Gaudreault, committee chairman, was turned over to Ald. F. G. Deaver with power to act in choosing a site in the municipal hall area.

PORT ALBERNI—Rites will be held in Stevens' funeral chapel at 2 p.m. Saturday for John Smith Fraser, who died in West Coast Hospital Tuesday.

Mr. Fraser was born in Scotland 60 years ago. An industrial electrician, he had lived in this city since 1948.

LADYSMITH—The children of St. John's Anglican Church Sunday school will observe white gift Sunday on the 20th. Their gifts will be given to the needy.

Wenner-Gren Not Exempt

The new B.C. Energy Board has full authority to initiate on its own a study of the Peace River power development proposals, Premier Bennett said yesterday. "Of course the energy board will deal with long-term integration of the Peace River and the Columbia, and all other developments," the angered premier said. The premier ridiculed demands for his resignation and the resignation of the full energy board, made by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan Wednesday when it was learned terms of reference of the new board did not specifically include the Peace River.

MAYOR ALSBURY

Three Levels Outdated

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Tom Alsbury charged Thursday the provincial government is remaining debt-free at the expense of the municipal governments. "The government is discriminating against the local government," he told a Kiwanis luncheon. "It is not paying for its share of public services, especially education." The mayor said the provincial government should pay at least 60 per cent of education costs instead of the 30 per cent it now pays. He called the present three-level system of government outdated and said there should be a complete review of the system.

Russian Turncoat Speaks

NEW YORK (AP)—A Soviet diplomat who recently defected to the United States said Thursday that processes now at work in Russia "will inevitably lead to a democratic system." Alexander Y. Kaznacheyev, in his first public statement since he was whisked out of Rangoon, Burma, last June, said the Communist regime is being forced to retreat from absolute dictatorship. "Each step in the regime's retreat," he said, "is a step forward in the eventual burial of the Communist regime." He told the Overseas Press Club that Soviet people for the first time are getting a taste of freedom, and this makes them insist on more of it.

Coup d'Etat Rumors Put Argentina on Alert

War Secretary General Robolfo Larcher confirmed reports that the army had doubled its guard at key points and taken other precautionary measures.

Turkey Dinner Poisons Guests

TORONTO (CP)—Twenty persons were taken to hospital suffering food poisoning after an old person's turkey dinner in an east end church hall Thursday. Nine were detained at East General Hospital and four at Toronto General Hospital. They are reported in satisfactory condition. Fifteen others were treated in various doctors' offices. Police are interviewing members of the women's committee which prepared the meal and the remains of the dinner were removed for analysis by the city health department. About 2½ hours after the dinner, organized for the Beaches Senior Citizens' Club, a woman complained of stomach pains during a community sing-song. An ambulance was called and three other persons were taken to hospital. Others were taken later in private cars. Five turkeys were prepared by the women in their own homes. Also served were scalloped frozen mixed vegetables, mince pie and cream, all prepared in the hall's kitchen.

Family's Clock Sits on Sidewalk

Threat to B.C.'s Economy Around Bargaining Table

The real threat to British Columbia's economy is in B.C. and around the bargaining table, Trade Minister Robert Bonner said yesterday. "If we can solve the problem of the cost spiral, whether it be caused by excessive labor costs or by excessive profit demands, there is nothing which can hold back the British Columbia economy," he said. He predicted the annual labor income will hit the $2,000,000,000 mark during the next 12 to 18 months. Mr. Bonner agreed with a Socialist spokesman (Harold Winch) who said a few days ago that increasing competition abroad threatens our export trade, but he emphasized the real threat is at home. "The success of the provincial economy in shaking off the effect of loss of production through strikes during 1959 only emphasizes the extent to which 1959 would have been a truly record year had we been able to continue production without interruption," he said.

Municipalities Turn It Down

Fluoridation was soundly defeated in Saanich, Esquimalt and Oak Bay yesterday as thousands of voters cast ballots on the contentious issue.

Last week voters in Victoria also turned it down to make a clean sweep against the fluoridation referendum in Greater Victoria.

Reeve George Murdoch hailed the 2,109 to 1,503 defeat of fluoridation in Oak Bay as a sign that "people are beginning to take a little cognizance of their freedoms and to assert their democratic rights."

The reeve said, "I don't think it was pure fussedness which caused the defeat. The people, turned down fluoridation here, as they have everywhere else, because they felt it infringed on their rights." Reeve A. C. Wurtele said after fluoridation went down by a vote of 861 to 500 in Esquimalt he was "disappointed to see so many vote against the health measure after the dentists and doctors came out unanimously in its favor."

He said there was no doubt those who voted against fluoridation "felt their rights were being invaded."

Reeve George Chatterton said results of the fluoridation vote in Saanich—final count was 3,513 against, 1,922 in favor—were "immaterial" as far as he was concerned. But, the reeve added, he had hoped fluoridation would enable him to affect some saving on his family dental bill which now runs about $400 a year.

Defeat of the fluoridation vote in Victoria last Thursday nullified the votes held yesterday in the other three municipalities. Officials nevertheless urged voters to cast ballots in order to provide an indication of public opinion on fluoridation.

'Gilda' Near Philippines

MANILA (AP)—Typhoon Gilda, with 100-mile-an-hour centre winds, was reported nearing the central Philippines.

Voters Reject Saanich Schools

Ratepayers in Saanich school district 63 yesterday turned down the $799,000 bylaw for schools by a slim margin of 104 votes.

The final vote of 1,679 to 1,294—approximately 56 per cent in favor—fell short of the required 60 per cent majority for the money bylaw. School board chairman J. D. Helps declined to make any statement but expressed bitter disappointment.

Saanich Votes $30,000 For Parkland Purchase

Saanich voters briefly cast aside their acute concern over rising municipal taxes yesterday and by 3,289 to 2,111 voted to shoulder an additional half-million burden for parkland purchase.

A clear decision on the park purchase fund issue was acclaimed by Reeve George Chatterton as "a great stride forward." He said the levy will raise some $30,000 next year on the basis of the present overall assessment.
